

Hoover Must Meet Prohibition And Farm Aid Problems

IS SILENT ON MOVE TO SHIFT DRY LAW UNIT

But Has Promised Searching Investigation — Early Session Expected

U. S. S. Utah — (AP) — Besides the selection of his cabinet and the making of other appointments of almost equal importance, Herbert Hoover soon must give his attention to two of the concededly gravest problems before his administration — prohibition enforcement and farm relief legislation.

Suggestions emanating from Washington that the prohibition unit be transferred from the treasury department to the department of justice meet no response from the president-elect. It is asserted that an act of congress is necessary in the first place to bring about such a transfer, even if it should be deemed advisable for administrative purposes which has not yet been conceded.

Mr. Hoover readily recognized the abuses which have grown up in the enforcement of the dry laws and in the treatment of the subject during his campaign he declared that only an organized searching investigation of the facts and causes could determine the methods for correcting them. His idea was for the appointment of a commission to study not only enforcement abuses but the workability of the law itself. The selection of such a commission, however, he recognizes, admittedly would be a difficult task especially in view of the fact that prohibition figured prominently in the presidential campaign.

WILL BE HELD OVER
Consideration of the farm relief question undoubtedly will go over until after the present session of congress. Mr. Hoover does not desire to anticipate the action of this congress, although the belief is general that there is no more probability of action now than there was at the time the president-elect announced he would call an extra session of the new congress to act if the present one failed to put through adequate agricultural legislation.

There is already much speculation among Mr. Hoover's associates as to when the new congress would be assembled, but the president-elect naturally is silent as he does not wish to be placed in a position of even the slightest influencing action during the Coolidge administration. However, the consensus is that, if there is no farm legislation before March 4, the new congress would be assembled in the spring, as the president-elect is on record as stating he wants early action so the measure would be effective in helping with the disposition of this year's crops.

In the solution of this problem the president-elect stated that he will turn to the leaders of agricultural thought, both in congress and civil life. "Sincere leaders" would be invited to a conference, he has declared and asked to join in a search for a common ground upon which action can be attained for the amelioration of the present farming conditions.

The president-elect early Friday was only two days from Hampton Roads and still was encountering pleasant weather.

SELL TWO FARMS TO SATISFY MORTGAGES

Two Otagamie-co farms are to be sold at public auction on Feb. 5 to satisfy mortgage foreclosures granted in municipal court. Although Sheriff Zuehlke will no longer be holding office it has been the custom for sheriff in office when a foreclosure action is started to handle the matter until it has been disposed of.

A 60-acre farm in the town of Deer Creek will be sold first. It is owned by Joe Monty and Gustave Witt and the mortgage is held by T. S. Davis. The foreclosure judgment was granted in municipal court on Dec. 7, 1927.

TWO ACTORS FINED FOLLOWING HOTEL ROOM BRAWL HERE

The climax to a brawl in a local hotel here early Friday morning, punctuated with an altercation with Capt. P. J. Vaughn of the police department, was enacted in municipal court a few hours later when Judge Theodore Berg fined one man $50 and costs for assault and battery and $10 and costs for disorderly conduct, and his companion $10 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge.

Merton Shields, Detroit, received the double fine. Hap Howson, also of Detroit, escaped with the $10 fine. Both are actors on a vaudeville circuit and are appearing this week at a local theatre.

The police received a call from the hotel about 4:30 Friday morning, and Capt. Vaughn and Officer Albert Deltgen went to the hotel. Shields struck the police captain, the latter reported. Both actors were taken to police headquarters to spend the remainder of the night.

PLACE NOVEMBER BUILDING VALUE HERE AT $111,905

The estimated cost of building projects authorized in Appleton in November totaled $42,002 more than for the corresponding month in 1927, according to the National Monthly Building Survey prepared by S. W. Straus and Co. The November, 1928, figure was $111,905, while the figure for November, 1927, was $69,903. The October total was $37,505 more than that for November of this year.

New York was the leading state in November from a standpoint of building activity, the report shows. Basing its calculations on reports from 44 cities, the volume of permits totaled $70,080,507. Wisconsin stood tenth among the 12 leading states.

Following is a record of the leading states, listing the number of places in each from which reports were received, and the total estimated cost: New York, 44, $70,080,507; Illinois, 51, $38,865,930; California, 63, $21,533,798; New Jersey, 36, $16,424,278; Michigan, 17, $14,702,633; Massachusetts, 30, $12,662,935; Ohio, 30, $11,878,695; Pennsylvania, 29, $10,813,415; Texas, 19, $8,333,884; Wisconsin, 18, $6,481,275; Connecticut, 20, $4,991,350; Missouri, 7, $4,929,566.

Following is a record of 18 cities in Wisconsin from which reports were received:

City	Nov. 1927	Nov. 1928
Appleton	$69,903	$111,905
Beloit	$4,850	$4,850

Whitefish Bay	162,412	128,819
State Totals	$6,194,048	$11,905,887

The estimated cost of the building in Beloit was underestimated 10 per cent and in Waukesha, 15 per cent.

WANTS STATE TO TRADE LAND FOR STATE PARKS

Madison — (AP) — Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman in a letter Thursday to the land commissioners, Theodore Dammann, secretary of state; John W. Reynolds, attorney general; and Solomon Levitan, state treasurer suggested that the state negotiate a trade of several 40-acre timber plots in Sawyer-co for other land owned by the Hines Lumber company.

In his letter, the governor points out that the tracts he suggested be exchanged are in isolated districts, while the lumber company's land is on Conners, Pierle, Loon, Round and Mason lakes in the country. The state has holdings on these lakes and the executive believes the entire forest would be better, if the lake land is more valuable. Gov. Zimmerman believes concessions could be made to equalize the exchange.

THREE CARS DAMAGED IN TRIPLE COLLISION

Three automobiles were damaged, but nobody was injured, in a triple collision at the corner of W. Wisconsin-ave and N. Superior-st at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. A car driven by Herman Chudacoff, 420 W. Wisconsin-ave, traveling east on Wisconsin-ave, collided with a machine owned and driven by Ervin Robinson, Kimberly, who was headed north on N. Superior-st. Unable to stop his car in time, Ben Kaarth, 6, Appleton, ran into the stalled machines a few seconds later, it was reported by police.

The right front wheel on the Kaarth car was broken off. One of the right tires of the Chudacoff car was punctured, the right running board was broken, and the right side of the body was dented in. The left rear window in the Robinson car was broken.

Increasing cloudiness, becoming unsettled; probably snow tonight in west portion, and in east Saturday; rising temperature tonight, and in east portion Saturday, with slightly colder in northwest.

GENERAL WEATHER
A high pressure area noted yesterday over the northern plains has developed great strength and moved rapidly to the lake region and adjacent territory during the past 24 hours, attended by fair and cold weather. It is followed by a trough of low pressure over the plains states this morning with unsettled weather and some snow and temperatures not so low. This "low" is expected to cause increasing cloudiness and rising temperature here tonight and Saturday, with some snow. This "low" is in turn followed by high pressure and cold weather of generally fair and cold weather here over Sunday.

EXPERTS STUDY KANSAS TAX LAWS FOR NEW GOVERNOR

University Economists Will Suggest Changes in Revenue Laws

Topeka, Kan. — (AP) — Three tax wise men — they are economics professors — will tell the Kansas legislature how the tax laws should be rewritten.

Dissatisfaction with the present system of taxation has been general in this state for many years, but little has been done to change it, because of reluctance to try something new.

For this reason, Clyde M. Reed, the governor-elect, believes the problem needs the attention of men who have devoted their lives to its study, and, motivated by this idea, he has asked the three economists to diagnose the taxation ills of Kansas and to suggest definite remedies.

The tax-wise men called into clinical consultation with lawmakers are Jens P. Jensen, professor of economics at the University of Kansas; Harold Howe, assistant professor of agricultural economics at the Kansas State Agricultural college, and Eric Englund, head of the agricultural finance division in the U. S. department of agriculture and former professor of agricultural economics at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Governor-Elect Reed and both branches of the legislature are pledged by the republican platform to free real estate from the assessment burden of $8,000,000 a year imposed by a state levy and to leave land as a source of revenue for local government only.

New sources of state revenue will be suggested by the three economists. When the legislature convenes in January, both Professor Jensen and professor Howe will be on hand to tell what they know about the success of taxes on incomes, gross production of minerals, amusements and luxuries.

Professor Englund will come from Washington when William M. Fardine, secretary of agriculture, can spare him. He already has presented his ideas at a conference between legislators-elect and farmers, bankers, merchants and other taxpayers. At this conference he advocated a state income tax.

An amendment to the Kansas constitution empowered the legislature four years ago to fix low, uniform tax rate on moneys and credits, including bonds, stocks, mortgages and other forms of intangible property. Since the legislature has been in doubt as to what the rate on intangibles should be, one session making it 2.5 mills and another raising it to 5 mills, Professors Jensen and Howe will make specific recommendations about the problem.

"These tax experts will submit their own ideas, not mine," the governor-elect says. "What they offer the legislature can take or leave alone, as it sees fit."

WISCONSIN PUCKSTERS DEFEAT CHICAGO CLUB

Chicago — (AP) — The University of Wisconsin's hockey team defeated the Chicago Athletic association, 2 to 1, in a fast game at the Coliseum Thursday night.

Gordon Mikeljohn scored a point for the Badgers in the second and third periods, while Don Mikeljohn zipped the puck into the net in the first frame. Lovell scored the C. A. A.'s only tally in the third period. Frisch at goal starred for the Badgers, turning back 44 out of 45 attempts at the net. Thomson, C. A. A. goalie, turned back 21 out of 24.

CHURCH COOPERATES IN LOYALTY CRUSADE

Presbyterian Church Council Agrees to Join in State-wide Movement

Simultaneously with other Presbyterians throughout the Synod of Wisconsin, Memorial Presbyterian church in this city will conduct a Loyalty Crusade from Sunday, Feb. 3, to Easter Sunday. Plans for the crusade were made at a meeting of the Church Council in conference with the new pastor, the Rev. Ralph A. Garrison, at the church Thursday evening.

The Crusade will open Feb. 3, with Roll Call day, when an effort will be made to have all members of the church present and it will end with Victory Day on Easter Sunday. The purpose of the Crusade is to stimulate greater spiritual interest in the members of the church and to lead the congregation into a more helpful program of service to the community and to the world.

Activities during the period will include a social visitation of the congregation, the financial canvass, the Holy Week services and instruction periods for those who plan to unite with the church. A series of suppers will be served by the ladies of the church on church nights.

The council also voted to cooperate in the religious census, to be conducted in Appleton.

ENDED COLD BEFORE PNEUMONIA SET IN

Relief Began Instantly When Doctor Advised Home Use of Pleasant Hospital Method

By taking the timely advice of his doctor, B. H. Harding, like numbers of people here, has found that it is not necessary to go thru the needless misery of a cold. Nor is there any necessity for needless fear if the right steps are taken to end a cold quickly before danger sets in.

Mr. Harding contracted a severe cold which nothing seemed to relieve. Examination showed that his nose tubes were badly congested, his throat was inflamed and the cold was rapidly spreading. Fearing pneumonia then he called a doctor.

AL SMITH, MADE RICH BY STOCK TIPS, IS RESTING

New York's Governor Is In no Hurry to Find a Job

New York—After eight years in the governor's mansion in Albany, Al Smith returned to New York Wednesday while the whole population wondered what he proposed to do. He has received several offers of jobs but apparently he isn't worrying much about the future. Inside information has it that the governor is so well set financially that he doesn't have to worry.

Mr. Smith has rented an office in Madison avenue and "take it from Al Smith, private citizen," he is just going to sit and rest a while. He is going to decide whether he shall devote the rest of his life to golf or business. He is a tip-top business man and a second rate golfer, so business probably will win the decision.

AL'S FIXED FOR LIFE

Either way the decision goes, Al Smith is fixed for life. He can have his choice of jobs or he can rest for the rest of his days, for he has powerful business friends and if Wall Street reports are true, he has a fat bank account.

Pictured as a poor man throughout the twenty-five years of political service to his state, fortune is reported to have smiled on Al. His windfall did not come until recent years and then it came through his influential friends.

Al Smith, as governor, presidential candidate or private citizen, will not talk about his personal fortune nor will his friends either confirm or deny that the one time East side boy is a two-time millionaire.

SAYS HE WILL REST

Seated in his Madison avenue office which has served him as a place to "meet my friends" in the past, Gov. Smith had this to say to newspaper men:

"I have not decided what I'll do. I'm getting on in years and I'm going to rest a bit. I've been working a long time and I'm not worrying about a job now. When I decide what I'm gonna do, I'll tell you and you can tell your editors. I ain't putting out nothing now and I don't want to be pestered by a lot of personal questions."

"I don't know how long I'll be here before I take a vacation or where I'll take it but I'll tell you about it when I decide."

For the present Gov. and Mrs. Smith are at the Biltmore. They expect to rent a private home or apartment soon. The governor—and it will be a long time before any one has the nerve to call Al Smith ex-governor—said Mrs. Smith was looking for a place for them to live. If the Smiths decide on a house it probably will be downtown in the Washington square district but if they locate in an apartment it will be on Park avenue.

MADE FORTUNE IN STOCKS

The Biltmore suite is a symbol of the changes in Smith's mode of living. There is no doubt that he can afford it.

This is the story of his personal fortune that no one has either confirmed or denied:

About a year ago Smith's good friend, John J. Raskob, came to him and said:

"Al, put your spare money in General Motors."

Smith took the advice of the man who was directing General Motors at that time and made a bit of money.

The governor's old friend, Mike Meehan, the man who was making Radio corporation turn flips in the stock market, heard Smith was in General Motors. Meehan tipped him off to a good thing in radio and the Smith fortune grew overnight.

Then General Swope, so the story goes, influenced Mr. Smith to put his profits into General Electric. This, too, proved profitable, and his bank account waxed fat. So that now, Gov. Smith, retiring from office, finds himself in the position of a man of wealth.

Some in Wall street say that Gov. Smith has $2,000,000 to fall back on in his jobless days. All, however, are agreed the poor boy from Oliver street has enough money to retire if he wishes to drop out of public life.

ARMSTRONG RENEWS CONTRACT AT CARROLL

Waukesha — (P) — Norris Armstrong, athletic director of Carroll college, Thursday renewed his contract to coach football and basketball for "an indefinite period." Announcement was made by President William A. Ganfield.

While Coach Armstrong has agreed to coach both football and basketball at Carroll college, it was deemed improbable that care of the basketball squad would be placed in his hands next year. It was indicated that a coach would be hired to devote his time to basketball and serving as athletic director. Vince Batha, assistant football and head track coach, will continue in those capacities, President Ganfield stated.

COLLEGE STUDENTS GET BACK ON JOB

Lawrentians, Recovered from the Flu, Enter Last Lap of Semester

Swinging into the last lap of the first semester, Lawrence college reopened Thursday morning after its Christmas vacation, prolonged by four days because of the closing of the college on account of the epidemic of illness among the students. Though more than a hundred students were ill at the time vacation began, a report from the college office indicates that practically all students had returned for the beginning of classes at 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

The first semester will end Feb. 1, and the new semester will begin on Monday, Feb. 4. Following the new policy of extending examinations over a period of eight days rather than four, as was formerly the custom, the examination period will begin on Jan. 24 and end Feb. 1.

FLAT ON HIS BACK NEARLY HELPLESS FOR MANY WEEKS

Dieringer Only Weighed 107 Pounds and Was Almost Helpless. Sargon Puts Him on Job Again. Has Gained Twenty Pounds

"I was down in bed flat on my back for weeks. I was on a liquid diet and I fell off until I only weighed 107 pounds. Sargon not only put me on my feet a well man, but I actually gained twenty pounds and am back at work feeling finer than I have in years. There is bound to be something unusual about a medicine that will do all that for a man in the shape I was in."

This is the statement made recently by John Dieringer, well-known inspector for the Leifol Gas Engine Company, Milwaukee, in one of the most remarkable endorsements ever given to a proprietary medicine. Mr. Dieringer lives at 873 Sixty Second Ave., West Allis, Milwaukee.

"I was told I had auto-intoxication and my condition became so bad I was ordered to the hospital immediately, but I would not consent to it. I had to take laxatives all the time, and if I ate anything solid it would cause a terrible burning like fire in my stomach and chest and I would almost double up with cramps. My nerves went to pieces and I was so weak and dizzy that I would sometimes have to get up and of my chair to keep from falling when I got up."

"It looked like the more medicines I took the worse I got and I was so weak I broke down completely. I had to give up my job and go to bed. My whole system seemed to be chock full of poisons."

"I have taken six bottles of Sargon and to say that I am like a new man does not fully express all that Sargon did for me. I gained twenty pounds and am back at work feeling better than I have in years. I eat anything now, sleep like a healthy boy, and am in tip-top condition all over. I took some of the Sargon Soft Mass Pills, too, and they are the finest thing for constipation I ever saw. They don't gripe in the least, yet they do their work properly."

"Nobody could ask a medicine to do more than Sargon did for me. It was the most remarkable experience of my life."

Sargon may be obtained in Appleton from Voigt's Drug Store. Adv.

MILLION MORE CARS IN 1928 THAN YEAR BEFORE

And Manufacturers Expect Even a Larger Increase in 1929

Washington — (P) — Almost 1,000,000 more automobiles were produced in the United States in 1928 than in 1927.

This startling increase in production is based on the reports for the first 11 months of the year and an estimate for December, exact figures for which are not yet available. Manufacturers forecast an even larger increase for 1929 because of added road mileage contemplated and the increasing demand for automobiles abroad.

The production figures for each month in 1928 follows: January, 231,728; February, 317,706; March, 413,728; April, 410,164; May, 425,723; June, 396,726; July, 392,076; August, 461,298; September, 415,255; October, 256,936. The figures for December, still unavailable, are almost certain to exceed the 1927 mark for the twelfth month of 133,571 automobiles, experts say.

Although many factories were preparing for production of new models and slowed production of their 1928 designs, made in for vehicles were shipped from factories in the United States in November than in the same month of 1927.

Reports made to the department of commerce show that 256,936 motor vehicles, of which 217,256 were passenger cars and 39,680 were trucks, were produced in November. These figures compare favorably with 134,

LEGION NEWSPAPER ISSUED LAST TIME

The last issues of the Badger Legionaire as a bi-weekly newspaper has been sent out to ex-service men in the state. Beginning with the January issue, the publication will become a monthly magazine and will be published by the Badger Printing company here. Formerly the newspaper was printed at Wisconsin Rapids.

Approximately 4,300,000 automobiles were produced in 1928 while 3,161,326 were shipped from their factories in 1927. The 1928 production figures may pass the 4,400,000 mark when all reports have been made.

The "WORLD'S GREATEST TIRES" and this PROVES IT!

Two main parts—(1) THE TREAD and (2) THE CARCASS—govern the life and value of any tire. In BOTH Tread and Carcass, Goodyear Tires are demonstrably superior—in fact as well as name, "The World's Greatest Tires."

Come in, and let the tire itself PROVE it—by these two easy tests—so simple a child can understand.

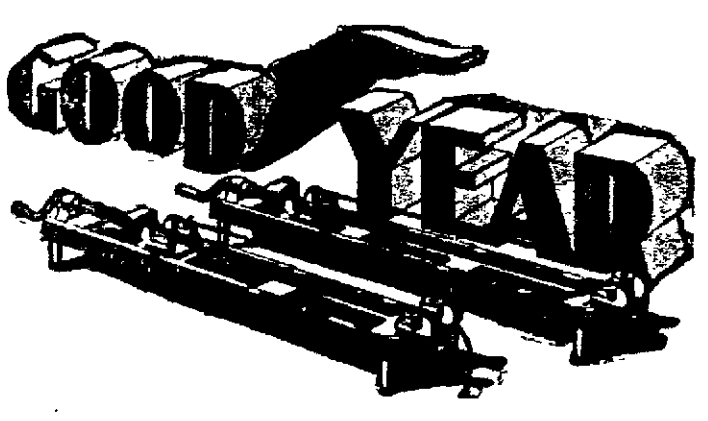

TEST No. 1

Press down your palm on the tread of a Goodyear Tire. Feel how the deep, thick, sharp-edged diamond-shaped blocks of the famous All-Weather Tread pinch, grip and hang on. That is the way the Goodyear All-Weather Tread grips and holds the road. SAFETY! in all weather—full center tread traction with every turn of the wheels. LONGER, SLOWER TREAD WEAR! Easy steering and quiet running.

TEST No. 2

This machine will show you why Goodyear Tires—made with SUPERTWIST—are stronger, longer-lived, and more elastic. Right before your eyes it will prove that SUPERTWIST Cord stretches 60% farther, recovers surer, and resists breaking more stubbornly than any other cord.

THE PROOF of these demonstrated superiorities of the Goodyear Tire is: MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND

The complete Goodyear line provides the right Goodyear Tire for every car, for every purpose, and for every purse. We carry the complete Goodyear line, and give standard Goodyear Service.

The proved superiorities of Goodyear Tires enable Goodyear to offer you the broadest possible guarantee. This guarantee is based on the miles built into Goodyear Tires, miles that cannot be written into any tire. "There are no miles in a bottle of ink."

We will be glad to help you make these tests at any time. No obligation—thank YOU for the opportunity. Come in today whether or not you need a tire now.

SPEARED RAT BY "ACCIDENT" BUT JURY SAYS GUILTY

Neenah—A. W. Clark of town of Winchester and owner of that part of land at lake Poygan known as Clark's point, was found guilty Thursday afternoon by a jury in Judge Jensen's court of having muskrats which he had speared instead of trapped. He was ordered to pay $50 and costs. An appeal was taken to higher court. The arrest was made by Game Warden Chase Oshkosh, who found the speared muskrat at Clark's home. Mr. Clark claims he speared the rat by accident when he pulled a spear with which he was feeling his way across the ice, into a feeding place to get his balance and the spear happened to connect with a rat.

The jury was composed of Charles Korotev, E. E. Lampert, Carl Gerhardt, Charles Sorenson, J. Gustaf Kalfas, Jr., and Harry Bishop.

DOODLE DE DOOS BOWL 3,062 FOR PIN LEAD

Neenah—Several changes in leadership were made Wednesday night in the holiday tournament at Neenah alleys. Hardwood No. 1, which rolled to first place last Sunday, was displaced by Bergstrom Paper company team No. 4 on the early shift, when the latter rolled a 3,062 total. The Doodle De Doos got hot on the late shift and knocked off a 3,062 score and also first place for the present. The leading teams are:

Doodle De Doos, 3,062; Bergstrom No. 4, Hardwood Products No. 1, 3,007; Bergstrom No. 2, 2,928; Pierce Agency, 2,933; Henning Gold Fish, 2,907; Specialties, 2,912, and Hardwoods No. 3, 2,908.

2 CASES TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT BY JUDGE

Menasha—Circuit Judge Beglinger of Oshkosh took under advisement Wednesday afternoon two actions tried before him during the day, the case of First National bank of Menasha against Chester H. Kolb, Jay Wallens and Fred M. Rosenthal, and an action with the same plaintiff and defendants with the exception of Rosenthal. The first of the cases involved a note for $250 and the second two notes, one for $200 and one for $150. Wallens and Rosenthal were indorsers, who denied having received notice of nonpayment on the notes. Rosenthal is a resident of Menasha and Wallens a former resident. Plaintiff

RADIO LEAPS FAR AHEAD IN 1928, GLANCE INDICATES

Eight Years' Popularity Puts Wireless in First Ranks of Industry

BY ISREAL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

Amidst the squeals and whistles of a confusing broadcasting situation comes a year of such remarkable progress in radio as has visited few other industries if any.

As a business, as a science and as an amusement radio has jumped to the forefront of popularity among the American people. Only eight years of age, so far, popular use goes, this great industry has advanced from one in which little was known to one that is on the lips of practically every person in the country.

For 1928, the Department of Commerce reports, more than $512,000,000 changed hands from radio fans and broadcasters to their manufacturers. In addition, millions were spent by the broadcasters, radio program sponsors and others for the entertainment of the vastly increasing radio audience.

Perhaps the greatest encouragement given radio during 1928 was the political campaign for the presidency. The radio statisticians estimate more than 40,000,000 persons listened to the speeches of Hoover, Smith and others through nearly 12,000,000 radio receivers and over networks of stations that extended from coast to coast and from the Gulf to the Canadian border.

Something like $2,000,000 was spent for this series of broadcast events alone, it is said. This includes local broadcasts as well. An average price of $7,500 an hour was spent for these programs, and as many as 115 stations were hooked up at one time.

SWIFT ADVANCE IN SIX YEARS

This great series, although the most outstanding of the years, took only a small part of the time for which many more millions were spent.

The swiftness with which radio progressed may best be realized from figures compiled for the industry in the last six years. Before 1922, radio wasn't officially recognized as a single industry worth consideration in compiling national figures. In that year, however, it was seen that this baby had already grown to be a $60,000,000 affair.

By the next year, this figure more than doubled, and by 1926 it had passed the half billion mark. Now it may be counted among the first 20 big industries of the country.

This great expansion is attributable first to the remarkable engineering advances in radio and second to the facility with which it was taken up as an entertainment and advertising medium. Today the National Broadcasting System stands out as the leading exponent of chain broadcasting with stations all over the country, while the Columbia Broadcasting System comes second with its recently enlarged network of 49 stations scattered all over the United States.

Power has gone up to 25,000 watts, the limit set by the Federal Radio Commission, although some of the larger broadcasters have a reserve that could put up to 100,000 watts power into their antennas.

REALLOCATION TAKES LEAD

From the radio fan's viewpoint the notable event of 1928 was the reallocation of wavelengths last November by the Federal Radio Commission. Nearly every one of the more than 600 stations had to change its frequency to conform with a rearranged plan by the commission's engineers.

What the effect of this change has been is still to be known. It is generally conceded, however, that the change has been for the better, especially in the reception of distant stations.

Second to this, for the fan has been the almost complete adoption of all-electric receivers, with electrodynamic loud speakers. The battery operated set is a thing of the past. Battery eliminators, having replaced the batteries, are now being replaced by the powered sets. These, of late, have been taken up by the public in such vast numbers that the manufacturers find themselves pressed to the limit in manufacture.

For the improvement of reception, the new type of 250 tube has been adopted in many receivers. This power tube, in the last audio frequency stage, permits of much more power than could heretofore be applied for the attainment of better tone and volume.

BETTER TUBES IN THE MAKING

Additional research is going on for the improvement of radio tubes, so that ultimately we may expect even better reception than we have been getting. There is, for instance, the multi-valve tube already in use in Europe and known there as the "Loewe tube." The adoption of this tube in this country will reduce the size receivers almost by one-half, for three or four of these tubes can be made to take the place of six or seven of those we use today.

What may speed the arrival of this tube is the final elimination of the famous "Clause Nine" from the contract between the Radio Corporation of America and the manufacturers of radio receivers. By this clause the manufacturers had to supply a set of RCA tubes with each receiver they sold. Now independent companies can come into this field, assuring greater competition and a livelier hunt for improvement.

The Radio Corporation of America, despite this setback, has shown much livelier growth during 1928 than in the past. This organization has joined forces with the Keith-Albee-Orpheum theater circuit, thus putting the talking movies definitely into the radio field. In addition, television has a place prepared for it in the movie and vaudeville houses of the country as soon as it is ready for popular use.

"WIRED WIRELESS" PERSISTS

Despite the rapid advance of radio in all its aspects, the sponsors of "wire wireless" continue to prepare the field for their arrival. This has been in preparation for at least five years, but lately we have heard serious reports of its fulfillment. Cleveland may be the first city for its adoption, after tryouts elsewhere.

Kolster has bought up rights to some 600 patents, patent applications and inventions in this and related fields and is to furnish at least one-third of the equipment necessary for this enterprise. Radio receivers are to be adopted not only to reception of the special wired wireless programs but to any other programs fans would want to tune in on the air.

Thus, with wired and wireless radio entertaining us, we may expect even greater years of achievement in broadcasting.

Yet this will be only half of what will come when television becomes practical. This year showed marked advances and great promises in this remarkable science. The names of Jenkins, Ives, Alexanderson, Baird are known to all radio enthusiasts.

Television no longer is an inconceivable theory. Acts have been broadcast by it and faces have been "seen" across the continent. Soon whole scenes will be broadcast as easily as is music and radio fans will have additional attachments to their receivers to enjoy them.

MORE RESEARCH GOING ON

The possibility of television doesn't mean that radio reception has been accepted as fully perfected. In fact, research is going on toward improvement of transmission and reception of sound so that squeals, whistles, frying and other forms of interference will be memories of the past.

Engineers are even now working on static eliminators that would abolish this atmospheric interference without reducing the receptive ability of the receiver. Others are trying to make the screen-grid tube practical for average use. Still others are already prepared to bring out the automatic volume control by which any signal received, near or far, will come in with the same intensity.

Little mention has been made of talking movies, an important achievement of 1928, because it may be regarded outside the field of radio. But the use of vacuum tubes and microphones and such and the adoption of radio technique in the movie studio, make this at least a close relative to radio.

Adding all these accomplishments, we find that 1928 has surpassed all previous years in radio history.

WETTENGEL HELPS CAST WISCONSIN VOTE FOR HOOVER

Badger Electors Ballot Unanimously for Republican Nominee

F. F. Wettengel, acting postmaster and a prominent Republican, was in Madison Wednesday to attend the meeting of the electoral college and he cast one of Wisconsin's 13 electoral votes for Herbert Hoover for president and Charles Curtis for vice president.

Despite the state law providing for the electoral college meeting on Jan. 11 the electors met in accordance with a new federal statute calling for the session on the first Wednesday of the month. Arrangements were made to send the Wisconsin ballot to Washington, D. C., by registered mail instead of a personal messenger.

This change in the method of casting the electoral vote also is provided for in the new federal statute, which was passed at the last session of congress. The government, as a result of sending the ballots by registered mail instead of personal messenger, saves $11,000. That was the amount required to bring the messengers to Washington and send them back home again.

The new statute provides that six certificates are to be made of the electoral vote of each state. One goes to the president of the senate, four to the secretary of state and one to the judge of the federal district in which the electors have assembled.

When the Badger electors met they elected James T. Drought, Milwaukee, chairman. He read the new federal law and then the group proceeded to act under the new plan.

The certificates sent to the secretary of state are held subject to the order of the president of the senate and to be preserved for a year and made part of the public record of his office.

Edward L. Kelly, Manitowoc, was named secretary of the Badger electors. Frank Sisson, elector from La Crosse, resigned, and E. D. Branson, La Crosse, was elected as his successor.

On Feb. 13 at a joint session of the senate and the house the 411 electoral votes for Mr. Hoover and Mr. Curtis will be formally inscribed on the records of the government. Vice President Charles G. Dawes will preside at this ceremony. Four tellers will count the votes and Mr. Dawes will announce the result.

RACINE LAWYER IN PROBE AT KENOSHA

Vilas Whaley Special Prosecutor in Alleged Lawlessness Cases

Kenosha—(AP) Vilas H. Whaley, Racine attorney, has been appointed special prosecutor to investigate alleged lawless conditions in Kenosha, Wis. Judge E. R. Holden of the circuit court, said Thursday.

Appointment of Mr. Whaley was made Dec. 29 and acceptance was made by the attorney at that time, but announcement was withheld until Thursday in order that he might "work under cover."

The order appointing Whaley as special prosecutor said the action was being taken to aid in the prosecution of persons whose offenses are punishable by imprisonment. The order would also aid in the work which was started toward the calling of a grand jury to investigate conditions in Kenosha.

THE LEGISLATURE MEETS

One hundred assemblymen and thirty-three senators are about to meet at Madison for the biennial session of our legislature. They are sent there by the people for the purpose of enacting into law such measures as appear to them to conform closest to the wishes and the welfare of all the people of the state.

Looking over the personnel that has been chosen for these positions one is inclined quickly to the opinion that an improvement has been made in the selection of these public servants, not merely an improvement over the last legislature but over the general average of the persons chosen for these genuinely important, though oftentimes neglected, positions.

Unfortunately for the people, because it will tend to decrease the efficiency of the legislature, there will be politics and log-rolling. This will become evident immediately upon the convening of the legislature when it becomes necessary to choose a speaker of the assembly and a president pro tem of the senate. Cliques will gather. Factions will organize. And these cliques and factions if motivated by high purposes of the public welfare may be of service but if their purpose be merely to build themselves up and their political opponents down the public service will be hurt instead of helped.

Mr. Kohler has been chosen governor by the people by a flattering majority, and for the simple reason that the people of the state heard him, weighed his words, and put trust in his personal honesty, as well as his very apparent ability to direct the destinies of the state along fair, sensible and intelligent lines.

We have many thousands of laws in Wisconsin passed by legislatures and approved by governors during the course of the eighty years of statehood. They cover a vast multitude of subjects from trivial regulations to matters of the utmost importance to the people. There are but few fields of human activity, if any, that are not already covered in this state by legislative action. Experience under some of these laws may indicate to the legislature the advisability of altering, modifying or striking some of them off the books. Some of them too need strengthening where the same sort of experience has indicated their weakness to fulfill their destined purposes. Certainly the income tax measure passed by the last legislature which, without any sensible justification, doubled and in some instances, trebled, the taxes required to be paid by those of smaller incomes needs correction.

There is no more important function of the legislature than that having to do with appropriations. It has the right to direct the expenditure of the millions of dollars gathered each year from the taxpayers. Legislators must be "hardboiled" in looking over these appropriation measures. They must not be "yes men." There must be upon their part an intelligent understanding of the needs of state institutions with a definite purpose to hold in check so far as may be in conformity with the spirit of the times, any expenditures that cannot be said to be necessary and required, as well as afforded, by the people of the state.

We think more harm has in the past been done by the evident hostility of the legislature against legitimate business than has even been accomplished by the laws passed. A desire to hurt any section of the state is no proper part of a legislative purpose. The desire to do justice should be paramount. When that quality pervades the legislature and fathers the passage of our laws, without the purpose of favoring one or harming another, the result will be a general spirit of satisfaction under which all sections will pick up and move onward and upward.

THE KENOSHA ACCIDENT

Five young lives were sacrificed at Kenosha at a grade crossing collision of a train and two automobiles. At the crossing were double tracks. The automobiles stopped as a train sped by. The drivers thinking themselves in safety proceeded and were struck on the next track by another train proceeding in the opposite direction. This is a trap that has scored many victims.

No doubt, as claimed, the trainmen were without fault themselves, neither bell nor whistle carrying above the crash and rumble of the first train. But this sort of an accident which occurred frequently enough before the advent of automobiles is now repeating itself so commonly as to call for some sort of action besides merely reminding the drivers that they might expect the unusual to happen as in fact it does with such distressing consequences.

These deplorable accidents tend to prove the necessity for crossing gates not only in the busier parts of cities but elsewhere as well. They serve to support the wisdom of the State Highway Commission in straightening roads, in building tunnels or viaducts to avoid grade crossings, and the necessity of all these preventatives will become the more evident as time goes on with its increasing number of trains at increasing speed, its greater number of travelers in a continuously increasing caravan.

OUR WORKING STUDENTS

The student who has earned his own education is not a development of the present generation. Abraham Lincoln borrowed books and studied them by firelight in his only leisure hours—after the day's work was done. There are always some young men and women who earn all or part of their college expenses as a matter of necessity. They could not go to college otherwise.

Today more students than ever before are earning money while in school. In fact, a new problem has developed. It is reported that many of them are working not because they need to, but because they want extra money for frills which their allowances will not cover. The lure of money, say the authorities in some schools located near large cities, is so great that it is detracting from regular academic pursuits and lowering scholarship standards.

That does not seem a wholly plausible complaint. The student who works part time cannot spend all his time on his studies. But the student who has ample funds and does not outside remunerative work does not spend all his time on his studies, either. Frequently he spends some of it on activities no more healthful or conducive to scholastic attainment than the labors of the money-making student. Also, the student who earns some of his way often knows what he is in college for and goes at his studies more vigorously and successfully than the student who has only lessons and play in his schedule. The student needs time for recreation and exercise. He is more likely to lose out on that score than on any other if he works. If health suffers too much, scholarship, too, will suffer.

MORE MEDICAL PROGRESS

One of the announcements made by the American Association for the Advancement of Science at its convention was that the hormone which controls sugar in the human body has been isolated at the Johns Hopkins laboratories. This achievement is expected to be of value in the cure of diabetes. Heretofore this hormone, or active principle, had to be obtained from insulin, made from animal extractions. The process has been difficult and expensive, not always dependable in results. With the hormone isolated and analyzed, it can be produced synthetically. The scientists think. The purity of the product made by synthesis—which is to say, a "putting together" of its elements—will be assured, which is not always the case at present with the animal extractions.

It is too soon to know how well this discovery is going to work out. But it is a step forward in chemistry and toward therapeutics. Incidentally, it will please those groups of persons who wish their cures to be free from the taint of taking life to produce them.

AIR IN THE ARTERIES

There is a legend associated with some great oak to the effect that he had to spool a bushel of eyes in order to gain the skill to do a certain operation successfully. At that, One I killed a patient trying to remove an effusion of fluid from the pleural cavity. Without going into details I will say that we had just got the process under way or rather we had just reached the fluid and were attaching the apparatus for its withdrawal when the patient sank over without any warning and died. Some patients have very little consideration for the doctor's reputation. We credited the fatality to pleural shock. That was a recognized explanation for such tragedies in the days of my professional youth. Pleural, not plural shock. The pleura is the lining membrane of the chest cavity and the covering of the lungs, there is normally a space between them of clear serum or liquid in it; in certain cases of inflammation (pleurisy) there is an outpouring of several pints of fluid; and in some cases of heart disease in an advanced state considerable fluid collects in the pleural cavity. That was my victim's trouble. I salvaged my conscience with the thought that maybe the outcome was only brought forward a day or two. But there was some plural shock, for I felt rather timid about doing anything to anybody's pleura for quite a while after that experience.

The modern explanation for this "pleural shock" is at least interesting if it isn't the last word on the subject. Drs. G. J. Ruckstaudt and E. L. McCune, Chicago pathologists, suggest that the symptoms formerly attributed to pleural shock are actually caused by the entrance of air from the lungs into the arteries. They cite experiments by Wever who induced all the symptoms of pleural shock by injecting air into the arteries.

Air embolism (shutting off of the blood by a bubble of air occluding the artery) is a fairly common subject. It is quite mysterious enough to suit all the requirements of the writer of a murder story, for few physicians would have temerity to question the theory that a hypodermic dispose of the victim. However some Austrian investigators—or maybe they were English, I do not now recall—found that they had to inject a large volume of air many pints, in order to kill a steer that way. I am afraid a mere hypodermic syringe of air would not insure the corpus delicti, after all.

These Chicago pathologists even suggest air embolism as an explanation for death from solar plexus blows; the violent, abrupt constriction of the thoracic cavity by such a blow, compresses the air in the lungs tremendously before there is time for expiration, and some air is forced into the pulmonary blood vessels. Certain sudden deaths in the water, following dives from a height and "belly splashing" may be similarly explained. German physicians years ago noticed air in the pulmonary veins and the left auricle (which receives blood from the lungs) in drowning cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Au, Chiffon!

I am 16 years old, and of course modern in dress. I wear my dresses knee-length and chiffon stockings. Mother objects to me wearing a chemise in winter. I'm perfectly comfortable with them on. I wore them all last winter and was none the worse for it. But mother argues all the time that I should wear heavier undies. Would you mind putting it in the paper whether wearing a chemise in the winter is unhealthy? Mother believes whatever you say is the last word. (M. C.)

ANS—Is it fair, Miss Myrtle, to come in late with mother this way? Honestly, now, didn't you feel fairly sure about my attitude before you agreed on me as umpire? Well, here goes. In my opinion you should wear tinued, adding a list of junta members with von Tirpitz and von Falkenhayn near the head and Emperor Wilhelm at the bottom. Von Tirpitz was "a popular character (largely on account of his aggressiveness and his beard)," Gefard said, with great influence, while von Falkenhayn, general staff head and a courtier, had the emperor's ear.

"The chancellor bores the emperor to death," the ambassador added. A comment by President Wilson at the time on this message, July 29, 1915, characterized the "detailed revelation of the whole German state of mind." It gave as "little less than amazing."

Gerard said he was satisfied Germany's war methods, including the sinking of the Lusitania, had the "full approval" of the German people. He commented also on the "very effective press bureau" of the marine ministry under von Tirpitz. Now, as the Bystander recalls it, the chief work before the war of that bewhiskered leader was the organization of a popular navy league designed to make Germany ship-minded. He has been neglecting his lodin ration—maybe if he would take a drop of tincture in water once a week he would come around to a more modern point of view. Anyhow, this is my opinion, and I do hope mother will still have faith in me.

A COMPLICATED CASE Does smoking for a girl of 14 cause consumption? I do not inquire. My mother fights with me all through the winter because I wear silk undies. I am not cold in them but I have a little cough all winter. (M. L.)

ANS—Most cases of tuberculosis begin (incipient) in the "teens." I think smoking tends to make the latent tuberculosis that the majority of us have, become active disease. If you were in mother's place I would not care whether you were undies or not, I'd see that you did no smoking until you were of age. Any boy or girl in the "teens who is below standard in health should have the Pirquet tuberculin test, and if this gives a reaction, then an X-ray picture of the lungs. Any smoking boy or girl of this age should have the routine test, too, think, if parental wishes are not respected by the smart Aleck or Jane.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

Washington—Just what part did the beard of von Tirpitz play in the World War?

Everybody remembers it. That huge, black, shorn-shaped, piratical-looking chin adorned rarely missed a week in the wartime rotogravure sections. Almost everybody had a notion there was some sort of sinister connection between it and the business of torpedoing merchant ships without warning. Now the truth is out—officially.

It is related in a war-time cablegram from Ambassador "Jimmie" Gerard at Berlin, just published which attracted the special notice of President Wilson and which mentioned specifically the beard of von Tirpitz. So far as this writer knows that's the only time anybody's beard achieved such international prominence.

A POPULAR BEARD What Gerard was reporting was that Foreign Minister von Jacow complained to him in 1915 just after the Lusitania sinking that the great general staff and the navy folks, headed by von Tirpitz, were running over the foreign office records. They controlled the foreign office to a large extent, von Jacow said.

"In fact all measures are agreed on by a sort of junta," Gerard con-

Adventures In The Library

By Arnold Mulder

"THE TERRIBLE SIREN"

Emmie Sachs has published a book that is as worth while in the line of intimate biography as anything that has been written recently. It is nothing less than the life story of Victoria Woodhull, known to her generation as "the terrible siren."

Who was Victoria Woodhull? It is probably necessary to set down specifications for the present generation of readers. At least, as one of that generation, I had never met Victoria's name until about a year ago when I read Paxton H. Ben's "Henry Ward Beecher." She played a decisive part in the Beecher scandal but the reader gets only fugitive glimpses of her in the Hibben book, just enough to give a keen appetite for more.

Emmie Sachs satisfies that demand. Victoria Woodhull was of course not a good woman and on the whole it is even doubtful whether she was a great woman although she was an extremely magnetic one. But it is no longer necessary, fortunately, for a biographer to choose subjects only from among the great and the good. Often a vicious or a wasted life is more interesting as a subject of biography than a perfectly respectable one.

Victoria Woodhull, at the height of the Beecher agitation, after tremendous efforts had been put forward by all the interested parties to keep the great scandal under cover and out of the newspapers, went to Boston one evening, hired a hall that seated thousands and told the sensational story of Beecher and Mrs. Theodore Tilton. She called a spade a spade and dragged out into the open all the unsavory details.

Not content with that, she published the whole thing the following week in her paper, "The Woodhull & Claflin Weekly." After that the Beecher-Tilton trial was inevitable. But that is only an episode in the life of Victoria Woodhull. Her whole life was like that from beginning to end. She was an advocate of free love, a spiritualist, and a number of other "isms" at various times in her life. She was a born "gold-digger" in a day when that term did not yet have been invented. She sponsored on the elder Vanderbilts and she made a great deal of money in devious ways, spending it like a princess. One day she was rich and the next too poor to pay for a necessary operation.

She would not only the men of her generation around her finger but the women also. She took hold of the suffragist movement of her day, as she took hold of everything she came in contact with, and straightway dominated it. And the strangest thing about it all is that the leading suffragists of her time accepted her and became her eager followers, in spite of the fact that she came from raffish stock, was purely a sensationalist, had an extremely unsavory reputation as a free love advocate. Her magnetism must have been tremendous because she could always make anybody believe black was white and accept her as a great and good woman when all the evidence was against it.

But the strangest fact about this strange woman was the way she conquered England after her career in America had closed ignominiously.

When youth was past she went to England and there she developed a desire for the ordered security of wealth. So she turned respectable, set aside to the heart of the son of an aristocratic family and in spite of the fact that she had been divorced several times and had lived with various men in various irregular ways, she won her point and the rest of her life was severely respectable and of course harder on the kind of erring sister she had herself been than if she had always led a virtuous life.

It is a strange story of a strange personality and it gives a glimpse into a period of American history that is of extreme interest. The story is almost incredible but it is highly fascinating.

GAME COMMISSION
WELL PLEASED WITH
PROGRESS IN 1928

Board Is Especially Happy
Over Its Reforestation Efforts

Madison —(P)— It is the belief of the conservation department that the year 1928 was probably the greatest for Wisconsin in promotion of the proper use of fur, fish and forests; that Wisconsin's record in this work compares favorably with that of any other state in the same period.

In forestry, especially, is the state conservation body proud of its record, a new year statement from the offices said. Realizing that reforestation "is the basis for all conservation work in Wisconsin," the commission took special pains to build the fire prevention system, and encourage reforestation.

The conservation body's statement follows:
The fire prevention system has been improved until now there are eleven different fire districts, each of which contains from 800,000 to 1,500,000 acres, and is so situated that it protects a section in which the hazard is great. A forest ranger is in charge of each and a system of tower lookouts has been built. Telephone communication between different towers and ranger headquarters has been established so that more equipment can be rushed to any part of any districts before the fire has obtained a good start.

Subsidiary organizations of fire fighters have been developed in each district so that at almost a moment's notice a large body of trained men can be called. More and better equipment for fire fighting has been furnished in the past year than in any previous one. Fire fighting trucks, water pumps, and many miles of hose has been purchased to aid this great work. Fewer fires than ever before demonstrates that the work of the commission along that line has not been in vain.

Fire protection itself would largely take care of the regrowth of forests in Wisconsin, but the commission is aiding nature in her work. The commission's large nursery at Trout Lake, in Northern Forest Park, Vilas county has had its capacity more than doubled during the past biennium, and today contains approximately 12,000,000 growing trees. Wisconsin stands sixth among the states in nursery operations.

The new forest crop tax law, under which the first year of operation has been completed, has been hailed throughout the country as probably the most forward-looking piece of forest land taxation legislation.

More than 100,000 acres of Wisconsin's cut over lands were entered under provisions of this law in its first year, showing that citizens are in accord with this new policy. In regulating state parks the commission has inaugurated a policy of the preserves. Improvement of sanitary conditions in parks and creation of conditions intended to encourage the use for educational as well as recreational purposes, characterized activity of the commission in this regard during the year.

Wisconsin has now twelve regularly organized state parks, and the commission is doing all in its power to secure the Copper Falls Region as another park. Several other areas are also being considered, some of which are the Northern Lakes Region, the Kettle Moraine Region, and the Government Bluff in Door county. Scientific study and more business-like precision have characterized the commission's work in the propagation and distribution of fish during 1928. The department of fisheries has tried to increase the number of fish raised and distributed by the state, and so improve the quality of fish shipments that there will be a smaller mortality rate among the fish planted in Wisconsin lakes and streams. Last year more than 289,000 fish were distributed to different Wisconsin waters. These included all the more desirable game fishes, pike, trout, both lake and stream, bass, pickerel, muskellunge, whitefish, perch, etc. Each kind was planted in the waters previously determined by scientific study as best adapted for their life.

In the law enforcement phase the commission made one of its greatest steps forward. A large force of better trained wardens is in the field today than ever before. Exactly 1513 arrests and convictions were made during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1928. Fines from arrests made by wardens during the year enriched the state school fund by more than $54,000, and sale of goods confiscated from law violators brought nearly $15,000 into the conservation fund. A new policy, preventing violations by education and warning has been the new note of the commissions activities.

Establishment of two new departments of the conservation commission increased the scope of the commission's work. One, the department of game, will in the future have the same relation to the hunter that the department of fisheries has to the fisherman. Propagation and distribution of game birds and animals and the study of disease, food and protection will be the main work of this department.

The department of education and publications has as its aim the dissemination of conservation educational material through the press, through magazines, by contacts with schools and other educational organizations, and by public lectures.

In the future this department will also publish books, bulletins and pamphlets of an educational nature.

A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BEAUTY HINTS

"Hello, Peet!" Sandy greeted Tony Tarver, who had found the young aviator just as he was climbing into his plane for a flight. A passenger was already strapped into the back seat, a stout, jolly-faced man whose eyes glinted with pleasure as they rested on Tony's beautiful face.

"Please shut off the motor and listen, Sandy," Tony begged so urgently that Sandy obeyed, and walked away from the plane with her without a word to his suddenly indignant passenger.

"Jam?" he inquired, his freckled eyes narrowing upon her.

"Yes, but not my own this time," Tony answered. "It's Crystal Hathaway, Sandy. She's disappeared and I want you to help find her."

"Gotta take this bird to Chicago," Sandy answered laconically. "Radio salesman."

"Please let some other pilot take him, Sandy," Tony implored. "Honestly, Sandy, I need you."

Sandy gave her another long measuring glance, then abruptly looped off to the shed where a number of pilots and mechanics were lounging about. He was back before even Tony could become impatient, and a few minutes later the plane rose with another pilot and a disgruntled passenger, while Tony and Sandy sped cityward in Tony's green roadster.

Tony rapidly sketched the "scenario" as she called it, of Crystal's disappearance, while Sandy listened silently, his lean, sunburned face very grave.

"Of course Bob Hathaway, her cousin, you know, is going to check up on this Pablo Mendosa, the Mexican boy who worked on Grayson's dairy farm, which is next to the Johnson dairy farm," Tony added. "But I don't believe he had a thing to do with it."

Sandy scowled, his freckled eyes narrowing. "Can't tell, girl's a fool. Saw her Sunday night."

Tony gasped. "Where, Sandy? Quick!"

"Interurban. Got on at the station near Grayson's. Sat next to me," Sandy explained, in his telephonic style of imparting information.

"What did she say? Did she tell you anything? I'll bet you know where she is right now, Sandy Ross! Sometimes I could shake you."

Sandy grinned. "Didn't say anything. Crying. Hardly recognized me."

"Oh, Sandy, you're the limit!" Tony groaned. "Why didn't you make her tell you what was the matter? But of course you wouldn't. I never knew a human being with less curiosity than you've got."

"Lots of curiosity about air-planes," Sandy grinned. "Guess she had a date with this guy."

"And was trying to make up her mind then never to see him again, or had told him she would not," Tony said slowly. "Oh, Sandy, I can't believe it! Poor Crystal! Maybe she was just crying because she hadn't had a date with any 'guy' and was terribly sorry for herself that the man she'd made up didn't exist." Then Tony told the whole miserable story.

"And Sandy, she beat it yesterday, sometime in the afternoon, after packing a suitcase of her clothes while Faith and her maid were out. I'm taking you now to Grayson's. The foreman, Jones, told Bob over the phone that the men had been talking about an American sweetheart that this Pablo had. I'm praying it was some hired girl in the neighborhood, but—"

HOW HUMOR OFTEN WILL SAVE THE DAY

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

An old saying goes, "A sense of humor is a saving grace."

It is as good today as it ever was, better in fact, for existence has not only come to be a rather downright dig-in-to-the-elbows affair, but a pretty grim fight for many of us if we wish to keep a place in the sun.

I should begin early to cultivate a sense of humor in children. Now there is humor and humor; there is the kind of irresponsible silliness that takes life as a huge joke and shifts responsibility on other people, and there is the kind that helps us to bear trouble. That is the kind I am talking about.

Children should be taught to see the bright side of things, the good fat part of the doughnut, the silver edge of the cloud.

One mother I know is an expert at diverting little minds from trouble. One day Buddy came roaring in with the knees out of both of his stockings. He had tripped and fallen on the walk.

"Buddy Anderson!" His mother gave him one look; and then fastened her gaze hard on his stockings. "I hope you had the decency to fall in 'Job's turkeys'."

Now in that family every pair of stockings were named, and one particularly ugly pair, yellow with black marks, that Grandma had bought at a bargain were immediately christened "Job's turkeys" as the black marks resembled turkey tracks.

Those stockings just wouldn't wear out. The ugly ones never do, you know.

Buddy's mother looked relieved—even pleased. She disregarded his roaring entirely.

"Why, you blessed child, you did! Look, Job's turkeys are completely ruined. Now we can throw them out for good and all without hurting Grandma's feelings. I'm so thankful it wasn't the Totem Poles."

Forgotten were the stinging knees. Buddy, too, was laughing now. I think that's a lot better than the other kind of sympathy, don't you?

Don't Pardon My Glove!

There's winter comfort for the well-dressed man in the new lined gloves for cold weather. (Upper inset) Full-on brown cape skin gloves have removable linings. (Center) The convertible driving mitten is a regular glove when the warmly lined mitten top is thrown back. (Lower) Pigskin gloves now come lined with knitted wool. Tan calfskin gloves, overstocked in two shades and lined with striped brown and tan, are smart for street wear.

BY CURTIS WOOD

NEW YORK — There are two reasons why the faultlessly attired male may never have to say, "Pardon my glove," this winter.

First, because a man's gloves are so good looking now that he might almost be excused for keeping them on.

Second, because many winter gloves are pull-ons and slide off quite as easily as they slide on. And also because many of those that aren't pull-ons are lined with materials that make peeling a simple task.

There's tremendous variety both in the kinds of leathers that go into gloves this year and in the type of gloves. Gloves for different times of the day and all occasions are there. Sport gloves, driving gloves, evening gloves and so on.

MANY LEATHERS SEEN

Many leathers are recruited as media for men's gloves. Calf skin still predominates, from 100 per cent American animals. Cape skin from South African sheep comes next in volume. Goat gloves, a rare novelty just a few years ago, have quite a vogue, made from hides of different kinds of goats from Asia Minor and the Mediterranean region. Wild hogs from Mexico, called "peacocks," and carpinches from the Argentine make those yellow pigskin gloves so dear to the collegian's heart and also many business men's.

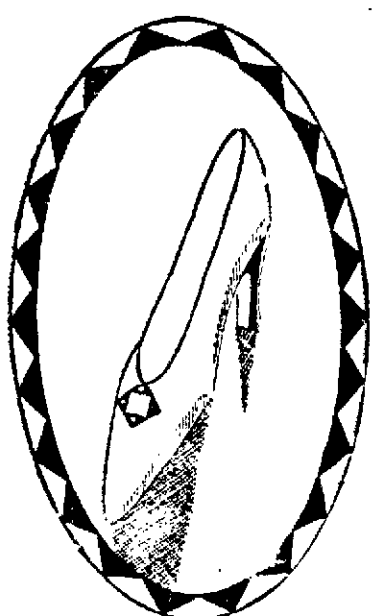

Perhaps the winter's glove contribution comes in the form of smart looking lined gloves. These linings, of pure knitted cashmere, soft lamb-skin, silk fur and other warm stuffs, fit like the paper on the wall and make the masculine hand look just as neat as it did in the unlined glove that froze his fingers on frosty mornings.

The convertible mitten is new — a glove with an extra, removable lamb-skin-lined mitten top. So are au-to-gloves with narrow ribbons in the leather running across each palm and the full length of the fingers to insure an easy grip on the steering wheel.

Tans and browns are the best colors for winter gloves, though of course nothing can take the place of the light grey mocha glove for formal occasions.

Some women make fools of men, but a great many of them get there too late.

POLISH BRIDES WILL DROP MARITAL "OBEY"

Warsaw—(P)—Pope Pius XI has approved changes in the Polish marriage ceremony eliminating "obey" from the pledge taken by the bride and making the pledges of both bride and groom identical. The new regulations will go into effect on January 1, 1929. Since 1614 the Roman Catholic Church of Poland has observed the rite approved for that country by Pope Paul V. Immediately after the re-establishment of Poland as an independent country in 1920 the Polish bishops found it necessary to introduce certain changes into the rite.

They addressed a proposal to the pope outlining changes, consisting mostly of the substitution of Polish phrases for Latin in the prayers. All were approved by the pope.

Under the old regulations the bridegroom promised "love, faithfulness and marital fidelity," whereas the bride had to promise "love, faithfulness and obedience."

A girl mentioned in the Rothstein case told police she had lived in Chicago since she was 16 years old and never had been mixed up in a murder case. What a singular person!

crumbs. Bake in a moderately hot oven until browned on top.

To make the tomato sauce rub 2 cups canned tomatoes through a coarse sieve. Melt 2 tablespoons butter and add one small onion cut in several dashes and stuck with five or six cloves. Simmer ten minutes over a low fire and remove onion. Stir in 1 scant tablespoon flour. When smooth season with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Add sifted tomato and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Boil two minutes.

Undereating leads to tuberculosis and other diseases

If THE mothers and young girls of this country could have heard the addresses before the Annual Philadelphia Tuberculosis Conference, something would be done and done quickly to stamp out the dangerous under-dieting by young girls.

The addresses of this meeting were made public through the Philadelphia Public Ledger. "The most difficult problem facing us in combating tuberculosis among high-school girls of this age. It is at this age that girls are most susceptible to tuberculosis and other diseases."

"We don't seem to be able to save them," says . . . "the problem of nutrition is the one we have to face in our examination of girls of this age. It is at this age that girls are most susceptible to tuberculosis and other diseases."

Parents must put an end to the dangerous dieting of young people. Thousands of older women have been seriously and permanently injured by extreme dieting to reduce weight. It is even more serious for growing girls to starve themselves.

Tempt the appetites of your family with deliciously sweetened cereals and fruits for breakfast, with abundant canned and fresh vegetables sweetened to taste, and with fresh, dried and canned fruits for desserts. The Sugar Institute.

LOOK FOR THE IDEA

Don't Worry Whether Commas or Semi-Colons are Used

"I think the sentence should end there, then a new one started. Cut out the semi-colon and put in a period."

"Don't you think it would be better to say 'advised' instead of 'recommended' here?"

Maybe so.

So we mark out the semi-colon, change "recommended" to "advised" — and too often OVERLOOK the big thing: the BASIC IDEA of the ad.

Mrs. Jones, being in a hurry anyway, doesn't particularly notice the exact punctuation of the text, or the precise shading of the words, when she sees the ad in this newspaper.

And the ONLY thing that will possibly interest her is a good REASON WHY she should buy.

That "reason" does not rest on the LITTLE THINGS in an ad but on the SELLING IDEA that ad presents. And rests solely on that factor. IF THE RIGHT IDEA IS THERE, THE AD WILL SELL, REGARDLESS ALMOST OF ANYTHING ELSE.

That is because the average reader does not approach an advertisement as an art or literary critic; but as a POTENTIAL PURCHASER, careful, canny — and warily opposed to being "sold."

All the beautiful words known to literary art won't achieve that result unless the IDEA they present is a SELLING idea.

An ad with that kind of idea, even with mediocre "art" and loose English, will sell ten times as many people as the PERFECT ad from an Artistic or Literary viewpoint, without it.

Obviously, advertising should be presented with an eye to excellence of diction and illustration. Simple words, simple terms, simple phrases and attractive illustration.

BUT—above all things and everything—it must present a real SELLING IDEA.

Look for that first when judging advertising. For the SELLING IDEA is the basic factor in determining whether or not an advertisement pays.

Your ad with a selling idea will get results in the APPLETON POST-CRESCENT.

4 Soloists
With Chorus
In Messiah

HANDEL'S Messiah, the most popular of all noted oratorios, will be sung at Lawrence Memorial chapel at 3:30 Sunday afternoon by Schola Cantorum, a chorus of 250 voices and four soloists. The Conservatory orchestra will accompany the chorus.

Because of the large number of students at Lawrence college with vocal talent, Appleton has an opportunity two or three times each year of hearing superior performances of choral work and the Messiah, which provides a large chorus such splendid opportunities for spirited and colorful singing is expected to be one of the most noteworthy every put on by college people. The chorus has been expertly trained under the direction of Carl J. Waterman, dean of the conservatory and the majestic and inspiring choruses of the oratorio, even in practice work, are being handled remarkably well by group.

Soloists who will add the proper balance to the production are Miss Gertrude Farrell, soprano; Miss Helen Mueller, contralto; Carl S. McKee, baritone and B. Fred Wise, tenor. The first three singers are members of the Conservatory faculty and Mr. Wise is a Chicago tenor of considerable note.

A silver offering will be taken Sunday to help defray the expenses of the undertaking.

HIGH OFFICERS OF PYTHIANS TO VISIT APPLETON

Grand officers of the Knights of Pythias of Wisconsin are expected in Appleton to attend the meeting, Monday night, Jan. 21, in honor of Emil Crouch, of Portland, Ore., supreme vice chancellor of the national lodge. They are Grand Chancellor, Frederick J. Petersen; vice grand chancellor, Sidney H. Stuart; grand prelate, Louis F. Robinson; grand keeper of records and seal, M. M. Gillett; grand master of exchequer, Otto C. Knell; grand master at arms, Martin J. Larsen; grand inner guard, Fred E. Herron; grand outer guard, A. J. Sutherland; and grand lecturer, Victor Moser.

Plans were made for installation of officers next Thursday night at the meeting of Knights of Pythias Thursday night at Castle hall. An oyster stew will be served after the business session. Clarence Zelle reported on the dinner dance held New Years day. Thirty-five members were present and volleyball was played after the meeting.

MUSIC PROGRAM AND DINNER AT
"CHURCH NIGHT"

A musical program preceded by a banquet served by the deacons of the church was given at the Congregational church Thursday evening. The meeting was the first of the weekly "Church Nights" to be held from now until the lenten season.

Solos were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Waterman and Miss Helen Mueller, members of the church quartet and a talk about the construction and history of the new organ was given by LeVahn Maesch. Mr. Maesch illustrated his talk with several selections on the organ.

EAGLES TAKE PART IN RADIO
MEMBER DRIVE

The Appleton aerie of Fraternal Order of Eagles will take part in a six weeks broadcasting program from Station WTMJ, Milwaukee, beginning Tuesday night, Jan. 22. The first program will be six hours in length, from 7 to 1 o'clock and 18 succeeding programs, which will be each Friday, Saturday and Tuesday night, will be about 30 minutes in length.

Musicians and readers from as many as the 49 aeries of the state as wish to take part will broadcast and a part of each program will be given over to a short sketch describing some aspect of the lodge. Three lo-ling cups and cash prizes amounting to $1,000 will be offered to the winning aeries. A hundred dollar loving cup will be presented by Harry McLogan, state organizer, to the aerie whose performers receive the greatest number of responses figured in percentages according to membership of the lodge.

Wisconsin Eagles will be the first to undertake a radio broadcasting campaign. The goal of the campaign is to increase the membership of the state aerie to 75,000 by June 1, and state Eagle leaders are estimating that 25,000 new members will be initiated as a result of the radio campaign.

Charles Schade of Manitowoc, state secretary, will attend the meeting of the local aerie next Wednesday night to explain the plan in detail. A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for the Appleton aerie's part in the broadcasting campaign. M. W. Fraser is chairman of the committee and members are Arthur Daelke and Frank Rammer.

NAME CHAIRMEN

TRADE SCHOOL
GIRLS SET DATE
FOR YULE PLAY

The postponed Christmas play, "One Night in Bethlehem," which was to have been presented by the vocational school girls dramatic club on Dec. 16, will be given in the little theatre at Lawrence Memorial chapel at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Jan. 13. Twenty-two vocational school girls will take part in the production which is being coached by Miss Elinor Strickland, dramatic director of the Appleton Woman's club.

Change Date
For Club's
Card Party

THE date for the Appleton Woman's club open card party, was changed from Jan. 5 to Saturday, Jan. 19, at the board meeting of the club Thursday afternoon. The party will be the first of four to be given from now to spring, and one-fourth of the members of the club will form the committees for each party. Mrs. Joseph Kofford, Jr., and Mrs. J. P. Frank will be chairman of the group in charge of the first party.

Committees to take charge of the appearance of Jean Gross' French Marionettes, coming to Appleton on Jan. 31 under the auspices of the club, were appointed and, plans for the Friendship dinner to be given Feb. 16 will be made at a meeting at the club at 2:30 Monday afternoon. The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the following in the financial drive, and Mrs. Mabel Shannon, general secretary, was instructed to call upon members of the board to complete the solicitation work next week.

DISCUSS BOOK
AT MEETING OF
MISSION CLUB

Mrs. George E. Johnson led the discussion of the topic, "The Changing Africa" at the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of Trinity English Lutheran church Thursday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Johnson was assisted in the presentation of the topic by Mrs. G. Knoke, Mrs. A. Rademacher, Mrs. R. C. Freitag, Mrs. Arthur Wendt and Mrs. E. Cameron. The Rev. P. L. Schreckengost talked on the book, "Leopard's Spots" and a thank offering talk was given by Mrs. William Helm.

It was decided to serve the banquet for the Luther League on Jan. 15. Mrs. Johnson was appointed to take charge of the dining room and Mrs. Breitung to be in charge of the kitchen. Five committees of two each were appointed for the interdenominational day of prayer. They are Mrs. Wendt and Mrs. Cameron, ushers; Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. P. Burmeister, program; Mrs. Knoke and Mrs. Breitung, music; Mrs. G. Tesch and Mrs. Julius Homblette, publicity; Mrs. N. Marx and Mrs. Rademacher, finances.

The lenten mission study will begin at the next meeting of the chapters of the society. A large donation to the church debt fund was appropriated at the meeting and reports of the standing committees were heard. Mrs. Emory A. Greenke, Mrs. Julius Homblette, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Marx were the hostesses.

CITY PUCKSTERS
PREPARE TO START
WINTER CONTESTS

Will Play Their First Game
Sunday With Independents
at Appleton

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—New London's puck chasers will play their first outside game on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 6, when they will meet the Appleton
Independent hockey team at an Appleton rink. New London's prospects for several good games are bright, as the local team is already dated for two games in February, although the places and dates are not yet definite. Games will be played with Neenah, Menasha and Waupaca.
Four of last year's regulars will be back on the line, including Ross,
Halverson, Dexter and Griswold.
Ross will play as center, Jolin as goal tender, Dexter and Halverson as defense and the right and left wing positions will have two alternates each, played by Grissold, Griswold, Sweeney and Edminister.
The rink on the Wolf river is already being cleared for practice and bounding boards will be placed in position soon. It is possible that a second hockey team of amateurs will be organized for winter play.

at the end of the week, James and Fred will remain at home.

BENEDICT CHILD DIES

Relatives here received word
Thursday of the death of Marion, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Wayne Benedict of Spring Valley.
The child had been ill with whooping cough and later contracted influenza. Pneumonia developed which resulted in death Wednesday afternoon. Funeral services were held from the Benedict home this Friday afternoon, burial taking place at Spring Valley. The child is survived by her parents, Mr. Benedict returned to that city on Dec. 7 after being a patient at a sanitarium at Chicago for the past few months.
The Benedict family resided in this city until recently when they moved to Spring Valley to make their home.

EMIL MAGADANZ HURT
AT CITY STOCK YARDS

New London—Emil Magadan, a local cattle buyer employed by Henry Gardlin, Hortonville shipper, while engaged at the local stock yards on Wednesday afternoon, lost his balance while climbing over a fence and fell, striking his head. Mr. Magadan was made unconscious by his fall and a physician was called. Beyond being bruised and shaken by his misadventure, however, Mr. Magadan was not seriously injured.

Shipping operations at the stock yards this week were unusually quiet due to the holiday season. Only one load of cattle was shipped to the Union Stock yards at Chicago.

FIT OUT FIRE

New London—A small chimney fire in one of the apartments of the Hinkle flat building on St. John place was the cause of an alarm shortly after noon on Thursday after-

COUNCIL TO HEAR
OUTLINE OF NEED FOR ZONING LAW

Half Burned House in City
Is Called Fire Hazard by
New London People

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—At the next meeting of the common council, City Attorney W. J. Butler and Mayor Wend-landt will discuss the zoning ordinance informally with the councilmen.

At this meeting it is probable that a report also will be given by Chief Dean of the local fire department, relative to the Margaret Hicks property. This house, left in a half demolished condition, is said by adjacent property owners to be a fire hazard. They have reported the matter to their alderman, Mr. Knapstein, who reported it to the council. Mrs.
Margaret Hicks is now serving a term in state's prison for having set fire to the house about two years ago. The house, still standing, has never been repaired.

Antigo Sunday where they visited relatives.

RODNEY PLATTE HURT AS HE PLAYS HOCKEY

New London—Rodney Platte, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hor-man Platte, narrowly escaped serious injury to his right eye while playing hockey with a group of boys on the Knapstein skating pond Wednesday afternoon. One of the boys in the group threw his hockey stick hitting young Platte in the eye. The boy received medical attention and while it was found that the eye was severely bruised, it was not thought that the sight would be impaired.

WOMAN IS INJURED
IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Lebanon—Mr. and Mrs. Moses
Krueger and family were driving last week on Highway 26 near the Gehrhardt home, when the machine collided with a car owned by Mr.
Surprise of Maple Creek. About $125 damage was done to Mr. Surprise's car, and the Krueger touring car was damaged to a great extent. While the Krueger family was trying to get their car off the road another car came from the rear and hitting their car also threw Mrs.
Krueger and daughter in the ditch.
It was feared that Mrs. Krueger may have suffered internal injuries.
Hugo Weg, while standing on a one tree and trimming another Monday fell and badly sprained his left arm.

Charles Nicolai left Friday for Aniwa to visit his brother Pete. He found him confined to his home with the flu and on Sunday when Charles intended coming home he too was intended sick and is confined to the bed and unable to return to his home.

BIG INCREASE IN PRICES OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Cold Weather Causes Losses to Local Dealers, Prices Soar

There is a marked increase in price of several vegetables on fruit stands this week, according to reports of local dealers. Some vegetables have increased from 2 to 6 cents a bunch or pound, according to dealers. The increase is due to cold weather prevailing here for the past week, and several dealers report that half of some shipments were spoiled.

The vegetable market is quoted as follows: Green Beans, 35 to 40 cents a pound; new carrots 10 to 15 cents a bunch; new beets, 10 to 12 cents a bunch; celery, 15 to 25 cents a bunch; head lettuce, 15 to 20 cents a head; radishes, 10 to 15 cents a bunch; green onions, 10 and 12 cents a bunch; spinach, 20 to 25 cents a bunch; cucumbers, 30 to 35 cents a pound; new cabbage, 5 to 10 cents a pound; tomatoes, 35 cents a pound; turnips, 10 cents a bunch; new potatoes, 25 to 35 cents a peck; green peppers, 10 cents each; cauliflower, 25 to 40 cents a head; garlic, 35 cents a pound; silver skin onions, 10 cents a bunch; parsley, 10 cents a bunch; string beans, 35 to 40 cents a pound; Spanish onions, 15 cents a pound; celery cabbage, 15 to 25 cents a pound; rutabagas, 5 cents a pound; sweet potatoes, 10 to 20 cents a pound.

Other articles are quoted as follows: Brussel sprouts, 35 cents a quart; mushrooms, 90 cents a pound; summer squash, 10 to 20 cents each; alligator pears, 75 cents each; peas, 33 cents a pound; red cabbage, 7 cents a pound.

The vegetable market is quoted as follows: Limes, 50 cents a dozen; coconuts, 10 to 20 cents each; Florida oranges, 25 to 75 cents a dozen; California oranges, 30 to 80 cents a dozen; lemons, 12 cents a pound and three pounds for 25 cents; lemons, 40 and 50 cents a dozen; apples, 5 and 10 cents a pound; grapes, two pounds for 25 cents to 20 cents a pound; grape fruit, 10 to 20 cents each; tangerines, 60 cents a dozen; cranberries, 20 and 25 cents a pound; fresh frozen strawberries, 35 cents a pound carton.

ROADS OPEN TO EVERY POINT IN WISCONSIN

Because there has been very little snow in any section of the state all state and federal highways are open to traffic and the going is good according to the weekly state highway department bulletin received at the county highway office. The recent warm weather softened some gravel and earth roads and they became rough but patrolmen are working on these sections. Pavements are practically free of ice.

FEE OFFICE PROBERS READY TO START WORK

The special committee, appointed after a hard fight at the November session of the county board, to investigate those county offices in which fees are collected, will meet Monday afternoon at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The committee will discuss plans for proceeding with its work.

This group also was given power to investigate the need for district phone in the office of the municipal court reporter and will take action on the matter Monday. Members of the committee are T. H. Ryan, Appleton, chairman; Arnold Krueger, Maple Creek; Joseph Doerflinger, Kimberly and the district attorney.

Set New Air Endurance Record

Here is the daring crew of the army transport Question Mark which set a new world record for sustained flight by refueling their ship in mid-air from a supply plane flying above. From left to right, Major Carl Spatz, commander of the ship; Captain Ira C. Eaker, Lieutenant H. A. Halverson, Lieutenant Elwood Quesada and Sergeant Roy Hooe. Designers equipped the big plane with narrow cutwalks so Sergeant Hooe the mechanic, could get out to make motor repairs during flight. The plane has been in the air for four days.

STAGE And SCREEN

"THE GOOD-BYE KISS"

Mack Sennett has turned from the slapstick, for the time being at least, to offer a feature-length picture that ranks right along with the most brilliant dramatic and romantic works of the motion picture screen.

"The Good-Bye Kiss," which opens a 3 day engagement at the Elite Theatre today is a wonderful tribute to the career of the man who developed so many able actors, directors and technicians in the motion picture profession.

It combines melodrama, comedy, pathos and suspense in a way that leaves nothing to be desired in the way of screen entertainment. It presents a former vaudeville star in a comedy role that is unusual. It gives us two new juveniles who are exceptionally clever and appealing.

As a spectacle "The Good-Bye Kiss" is marvelous. As a comedy it is a riot. As a love story it has not been surpassed.

Mr. Sennett has combined his experience of years as a producer and director, and put into one picture the fruits of this experience. He carries us from laughter to tears in the passing of a moment. He creates suspense that keeps us gripping the sides of our seats. And above all, he has provided entertainment in practically every foot of this picture, and splendid entertainment at that.

Johnny Burke, Sally Eilers and Matty Kemp are the three Sennett "finds" in the featured roles. They are assisted by a cast of players consisting of Wheeler Oakman, Irving Bacon, Lionel Belmore, Alma Bennett, Eugene Pallette, Carmelita Geraghty, Jean Laxerty and Andy Clyde.

"PHYLIS OF THE FOLLIES" The photodrama, "Phyllis of the Follies," which will be shown at the Appleton Theatre Saturday and Sunday with 5 acts of vaudeville is heralded as one of those charming, sophisticated pictures which are the delight of motion picture audiences.

The story concerns a wealthy young society man who has a falling for Phyllis girls. He walks right out of one, breach of promise suit into another mix-up, to the great consternation of his lawyer. Finally he falls hard for another Phyllis girl whom, he learns, is the lawyer's wife. She and her bosom companion, still another Phyllis girl, give him many hectic hours before he is finally cured.

Edmund Burns has the role of the Lothario, and Matt Moore is the lawyer. Alice Day is Phyllis, the Follies girl who finally nooses the hero with an altar halter. Lilyan Tashman is the ex-Follies wife of the lawyer, and Duane Thompson is the last but one Follies beauty on the hero's list of entanglements.

The picture was directed by Ernst Laemmle, from an original story by Arthur Gregor. It has been lavishly produced and includes, besides back stage and dressing room shots of the Follies chorus, elaborate boudoir settings and superbly acted hotel scenes. It is heralded as one of the smartest stage society pictures of the year. It is supposed to give a remarkable insight into the circle of curios, a Follies girl's mind said to be the most unaccountable, volatile and whimsical thing in the world.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
ASHTORETH ASHE, beautiful stenographer, traveling alone to the West Indies, meets JACK SMYTHE on shipboard. Smythe is an Englishman. He and Ashtoreth bump into each other on a dark deck, and he begins immediately to flatter her and to tell her that she is beautiful. There is another interesting person abroad—MONA DE MUSSET, a striking Frenchwoman. She and Ashtoreth are roommates, and Mademoiselle has already made friendly advances. Apparently the Frenchwoman has a great deal of money. Ashtoreth has practically none. The trip has been made possible for her through the devotion of her widowed mother, MAIZIE. Ashtoreth and Jack Smythe are walking together about the wind-blown deck when he tells her she looks like a goddess, and she retorts that he looks like the Prince of Wales.

NOW GO CHAPTER XV
Ashtoreth was not the first person who had told Jack Smythe he looked like the Prince of Wales. An American movie producer, meeting him in London, had offered him a royal role in the talkies. His eyes were like the Prince's, and his hair (though they say his highness is getting a little bald). But mostly it was a matter of build and carriage. Of distinction, perhaps. He was of average height, and slight. With a weary look about his wide, young eyes. And an air of sophistication, greatly admired by young girls. The movie producer had contemplated starring him in a film called "Royal Love," in which a prince loses his heart to a commoner. Smythe, horrified at the notion, was inclined to treat the proposition as a sacrifice—an affront to the dignity of his Prince. Still, it afforded him considerable satisfaction. It was an offer to gladden the heart of any Englishman. Ashtoreth was still looking at him with unforgotten admiration. "Ever since Valentino died, I've been simply crazy about the Prince," she confessed. "When I was quite young, I cut his picture out of the paper, and stuck it in my mirror. My goodness, it was like you!" "And I," declared Smythe, "have a particular weakness for goddesses." They laughed together. "You are beautiful," he told her gravely. "What was it Homer said—'She moves a goddess, and she looks a queen'?" "I don't know anything about Homer," she admitted. "But I'm beginning to like my funny name. You're the second nice man who thinks it is a lovely name. I always thought it was awfully foolish myself." "Oh no!" he said. "It's much nicer to have been named for a beautiful moon than a rich old aunt, don't you think—or a friend of the family's who might leave you some money? Most names don't mean anything at all. People get them out of novels. Or they get banded around in a family sort of way." "Children after are named for saints. That's a very pretty idea, I think. But to have been named for the moon! Why, that's utter sublimity! Men used to worship the moon, you know—before they started worshipping gold and power, and any number of foolish things."

It was cold on deck. "I left Mademoiselle de Musset in the smoking room. Wouldn't you like to go in and see her?" suggested Ashtoreth, when they had braved against the gale that blew about the bridge. "I'm simply frozen to death."

Smythe had put his arm about her shoulders, as the wind flung them like puppets along the deck. Ashtoreth resented the familiarity. But it would be prudish, she thought, to ask him to take it away. Probably he had not given it a thought, except to protect her. No man was ever amorous in the teeth of a blizzard. Still, she wanted to escape his careless embrace. "Oh, don't go in," he begged. "It's glorious out here. Besides, I know a little sheltered nook, if you'd like to get out of the wind."

But Ashtoreth thought she had better go in. "I'm afraid Mademoiselle will have gone down," she said. "I might wake her up if I stayed out any longer."

Smythe laughed shortly. "Mademoiselle doesn't go to bed very early," he told her. "Beside she probably has a man in tow by this time."

"She told me she was on the stage," Ashtoreth said. "What does she do—do you know?" Smythe was puffing at his pipe. "Yes," he replied, his teeth gripping the stem. "I know. Miss Ashe, I think if I were you, I'd ask the purser if he couldn't fix me up with another stateroom."

Ashtoreth felt suddenly nervous. Sometimes she experienced a completely empty feeling in her stomach. She associated it always with a presentiment of disaster. Now she felt that Mademoiselle was a dangerous person, and that Smythe was trying to warn her against the woman.

But, accompanying the emptiness, was a delicious little feeling of excitement. Maybe Mademoiselle was one of those adventurous ones who reads about. One of those delightfully immoral creatures of whom de Maupassant wrote. Ashtoreth had read de Maupassant when she was in high school. A girl whose mother ran a circulating library had brought a complete edition to school, and the entire senior class had read it surreptitiously. Perhaps Mademoiselle was a demimonde.

"Tell me about her!" she commanded. "Oh, there's nothing to tell," Smythe dismissed the subject quickly. "They're all alike. It's in the blood."

"Who are all alike?" asked Ashtoreth. "Frenchwomen?" Smythe stopped short. "De Musset's not French," he said. "Not pure French, you know. They're mostly hybrid, down here. Mergers. And the women are dangerous."

Ashtoreth decided that Mr. Smythe might look like the Prince of Wales and all that, but he wasn't particularly chivalrous. "Well," she said, "I rather like her—at least, I think I'm going to. Anyhow I'd rather room with her than some dried up old maid, or one of those big fat women. There isn't another girl on board—not that I've seen. And I'm glad I have an exciting roommate. I'm going down now, to say good night to her. And to give her your compliments."

Smythe was casually offhand. "Well, don't believe all she tells you," he counseled. "Once more under the bridge and I'll let you go."

The moon, when they reached the forward deck, was playing hide and seek again with the clouds. And the place was dark, as though a storm were brewing. There, in the blackness, Smythe took Ashtoreth in his arms. And gowns that have petticoats and blouses. I have twelve of them—the first ones ever made."

She was rummaging through her bags. "You like them, eh? Eh, eh! I will give you some. Half for you and half for me."

She tossed her things about. Soft and light as baby clouds. "Ah, here they are! White, Mademoiselle. And black. And now any color you choose. Yellow? Orchid? Pink like a rose?"

Ashtoreth was dumbfounded. "But Mademoiselle!" she stammered. "I—I—you're awfully kind. But I can't do that. You're too generous. Indeed you are. I can't take them—truly. But thank you—thank you so much!"

The Frenchwoman's quick glance had darted about the room. "Four!" she cried and raising the cover of Ashtoreth's hat box, dropped her lovely night gowns in. She sat on the edge of her berth and rubbed great quantities of cold cream on her face, dipping her fingers in an enormous onyx jar. "Monsieur Jack Smythe," she remarked idly, "likes American girls." Her fingers caressed her cheeks, with little upward motions as though she were inscribing circles. "He is a bad man," she added. Her voice was soft and lazy. "A bad man," she repeated. And began, leisurely, to wipe away the cream.

More about the mysterious lady in the next installment—and more, too, about this fascinating young Smythe.

COUNCIL WON'T OPEN UNION-PL
Work Cannot Be Done Because Abutting Property Is Owned by Railroad
Adopting the recommendation of the streets and bridges committee, the common council Wednesday evening decided not to open Union-pl. The project cannot be carried out because the property abutting it on the north end is owned by the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co., it was pointed out in the committee's recommendation. Plans and specifications for paving or resurfacing five streets were ordered of the city engineer. The following streets were named: Onida, from Lawrence-st north to the railway tracks; Washington-st, from Onida to Rankin-st; Lawrence-st, Onida to Lawrence-st bridge; Park-ave, from College-ave to Washington-st; and Walter-ave and Newberry-st from John-st to the east city limits. A claim of $26 against the city was presented by Mrs. A. A. Trevor. The claim represented the amount of her physician's bill for treatment of injuries received several weeks ago when she fell on a sidewalk. The claim was referred to the judiciary committee.

GET SUPPLY OF NEW AIR MAIL STAMPS HERE
A large supply of the new Kitty Hawk air mail stamps, issued to mark the International Civil Aeronautics conference and in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first flight of the pioneer Wright airplane, were received Wednesday at the Appleton postoffice. The stamps are to be placed on sale at once according to F. F. Wettengel, acting postmaster. Mr. Wettengel said the local office had received 50,000 of the 2-cent stamps and 10,000 of the 5-cent stamps. They are to remain on sale until the supply is exhausted.

DODGE BROTHERS SIX

EVER SINCE the first Dodge Brothers car made its appearance some 15 years ago, the name of Dodge Brothers has enjoyed commanding prestige. Hence, in acquiring the Dodge Brothers Corporation, and in undertaking to plan, produce and protect the future products which will bear the Dodge name, we are mindful of our profound personal obligation to the vast Dodge Brothers public and the host of Dodge Brothers dealers throughout the world. It is our sole aim to add so consistently and conspicuously to the present acclaim of Dodge that every Dodge owner and every Dodge dealer will feel even greater pride and will have cause for even greater satisfaction. We are utilizing every one of the elements of progressive engineering, scientific manufacturing and outstanding value which have contributed to the success of all other Chrysler-built cars and to the general progress of the Chrysler Corporation. We have embodied such evident value, such surpassing performance, such engineering supremacy and so much of originality, beauty and luxury that by every comparison, the intrinsic value of Dodge Brothers cars will remain unchallenged. The new Dodge Brothers Six furnishes unassailable evidence of the unlimited capabilities of the great, organized forces of the Chrysler Corporation when marshalled to full strength in any enterprise. From an engineering standpoint, this new Dodge Brothers Six is a supreme achievement by a group of engineers whose scientific accomplishments have revolutionized automobile design. We believe that in performance, in new measures of comfort, in long-lived excellence, and in persistent and inherent value it surpasses every previous conception of what a car at this price could possibly be. We are proud to be the creators and sponsors of the new Dodge Brothers Six—and present it in the sincere conviction that it offers the high value, dependability and distinction which a discriminating public expects always of Dodge Brothers.

1928 WAS YEAR OF BIG MERGERS IN AUTO INDUSTRY

Mass Production Forced Smaller Manufacturers to Ban Together

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

The year 1928 will be known in future as the merger year in the automobile industry.

Yet, outstanding as this development is, it isn't alone in importance among the achievements of this great field. For close behind come such significant factors of 1928 as:

1. A new high record in automotive production.
2. The new Chevrolet six, marking the departure of General Motors from the four-cylinder field.
3. Return of Ford to mass production.
4. Introduction of at least three new cars.
5. DECLINE OF SMALLER CAR.
6. Tendency of small cars to become larger.
7. Great expansion of the export trade.
8. Introduction of an eight-cylinder automobile in the price field below $1,000.
9. Use of high-grade features in low-priced cars.
10. Innovation of a radically new type of body by Buick.
11. Appointment of a "czar" for the rubber industry.

Besides these developments that mark 1928 as an important year in automotive industry, there are other factors only second in importance to them. For example, we might remember that Nash introduced his "400" series and dual ignition, that Dodge dropped the four for the six, that Duesenberg came out with a brand-new straight eight of 265 horsepower, that Valie definitely went over to aviation, that Auburn brought out a six below the $1,000 mark and that another European automobile, the Lancia, came over for American production to keep the Rolls-Royce company.

1928 NO MORE RECORD YEAR. As a result of all this 1928 will be remembered as the record year of all, even surpassing 1926 in all its glory.

In 1928, production took the high peak of more than 4,500,000 passenger cars and trucks. But this year's production up to Dec. 1 passes the mark set in the first 11 months of 1926 and needs a production of less than 140,000 cars to pass the previous record. This is certain, for Chevrolet alone is going full blast at a rate of production exceeding 5,000 a day.

That new Chevrolet marks a turning point in automotive history. It puts General Motors, greatest producer of automobiles in the world, altogether out of this field and leaves it open only to Ford, Whippet, Plymouth and Durant.

The narrowing of the four-cylinder field by so great a margin as Chevrolet has left is even further threatened by the encroachment of the six into the price class of the four.

Despite this threat, however, Ford is steadily increasing his production. To an average demand of 7,000 of his cars a day, he has worked up his production until now he is putting out 6,500 a day and soon will pass the daily demand for his product. In order to break even, it is said, he has to produce and sell 5,000 Model A's daily.

MERGERS STILL MYSTIFY Some authorities believe that it was Ford's and Chevrolet's mass production that forced the mergers we have witnessed in the past year. These may be true, partly to this, but many other perhaps more important factors led to merging of the large automotive firms.

The first great step in this direction was the merger of Chrysler and Dodge, involving perhaps half a billion dollars. Later on in the year came the wedding of Pierce-Arrow and Studebaker, and only lately we have heard of the merger of Hupmobile and Chandler.

Several parts manufacturers also have joined forces, while the two great trade organizations—Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' Association and the Automotive Equipment Association—now are one.

What all this means and what the mergers are leading to are questions that still puzzle independent in the automotive field. And it is yet too close to their consummation to make any sort of guess or prediction.

Despite these mergers, however, those still left out continue to show their independence by the introduction

WATERMAN RETURNS FROM MUSIC MEETING

Noted British Teacher Is Chief Speaker at Cleveland Convention

Carl J. Waterman, dean of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music, has returned from Cleveland, Ohio, where he attended the fifth anniversary meeting of the Music Teachers' National association. Four hundred music instructors from all over the United States attended the meeting.

The most important addresses of the convention were made by Ernest Fowles of London, England, representing the Society of English Music Teachers, Incorporated, and Madame Olga Samoroff of the Juillard Foundation graduate school of music, who spoke on "Mechanism in Music." The entire program of the convention was developed along a general theme showing the progress of musical instruction within the last fifty years and sessions were devoted to every branch of musical instruction.

One of the most attractive features of the meeting was the presentation by the Cleveland Symphony orchestra of "America," the symphony composed by Ernest Bloch of San Francisco, Calif., which won the $3,000 prize offered by Musical America for the best American composed symphony. The composition, which has been played by all the famous American symphonies within the past two weeks, portrays in music the past, present and future of the nation.

ASK LOCAL SUPPORT OF NEW CENSUS BILL

Appleton chamber of commerce has been asked to protest against the proposed bill in the United States senate which calls for taking the ten year census in 1930 and again makes census taking positions political spoils, by the National Civil Service Reform league. The protest makes note of the fact census figures taken by political appointees seldom are accurate and that the entire procedure is steeped in graft. The league reports that Senator Bruce of Maryland has a bill prepared which will force census takers to take a civil service examination before they receive appointments, and asks that representatives from this district and state at congress be asked to support the bill.

LANGENBERG, SYKES TO ATTEND SHOE MEET

Joseph Langenberg and Richard Sykes will represent Appleton retail shoe dealers at the National Shoe-men's convention at Chicago, Jan. 7 to 10. Convention headquarters will be at the Stevens hotel. Plans for the retail shoe merchandising in 1929 will be arranged. The Wisconsin Shoe-men's association at a banquet in the Stevens hotel at 6:30 Tuesday evening, according to Mr. Langenberg, representatives from throughout the country are expected to be present.

famous mechanical departure, when it introduced the four-wheel brakes. Perhaps others will follow this new trend as they did the earlier one.

And perhaps those who will make the first step toward this change will be the manufacturers of low-priced cars. For it is they who have succeeded in introducing nearly all the major improvements we saw here before only on the more costly products. Low price no longer bars one from the advantages of the air cleaner, fuel filter and oil strainer, the thermostatic control and many other refinements for easier and more comfortable driving. In fact, it includes such better factors as the movable front seat, the fuel pump, the one-button control, chromium plating, shatterproof glass and so on.

In the tire industry, business has been just as remarkable as in the automotive field. But perhaps the most significant development for 1928 was the appointment of Lincoln C. Andrews, former federal prohibition commissioner, as "czar" of the rubber industry and the formation under him of the American Rubber Institute.

This development rounds up a year of achievement that puts the automotive industry and its allied field of rubber far in the van of American manufacture.

QUESTION No. 8. What should the bidding be at Auction Bridge?
QUESTION No. 9. What should the bidding be at Contract Bridge?
QUESTION No. 10. What should be the original lead?
QUESTION No. 11. What card should take the first trick?

THE ANSWERS

8. The Auction Bridge bidding should be: South one No Trump, West pass, North two No Trumps, all pass.
9. The bidding at Contract Bridge should be: South one No Trump and after West's pass, North should bid three No Trumps. South, who has a count of 17, now knows that North has a count of at least 12; if North's count exceeds 12, there is a possible slam in the hand. But South has not the Diamonds stopped and as North's double jump may have been based on high Spades, Hearts and Clubs without a diamond stopper (not probable but possible), it would be safer for South to pass. A South who was a desperate slam bidder would bid four Clubs over North's three No Trumps. North then would bid four Diamonds. South four Hearts, North five Clubs; after which a South bid enough to start the slam conversation doubtless would bid six No Trumps. Although slam bidding would succeed with the adverse cards as they are, it hardly would be justified by the North and South holding.

10. West should lead the Queen of Hearts from Q-J-9 at the head of this long suit.

11. South should win the first count as sure, three Spade tricks, trick with the Ace of Hearts as there is no point in holding it up. He can one Heart, one Diamond and five Clubs. Therefore, even if South has not bid for a slam, he can win nine tricks; after which the Diamond finesse can be tried with a Grand Slam as a reward if it wins, and a game assured if it loses.

Lawrence Cagers Open Season In Armory Tonight

VIKES HAVE BEEN PRACTICING FOR LAST SIX WEEKS

Old Faces in New Positions Will Greet Fans at Friday's Game

LAWRENCE college basketball team will open its 1929 season in armory G Monday evening with Hamline university of St. Paul as the opponent. There will be no preliminary game and the evening's attraction is scheduled to get underway at 8 o'clock.

The Vikes have been practicing the last six weeks or so and have played three preliminary games with teams in the vicinity, two of them resulting in one point losses, the other an overwhelming victory which, however, didn't count for much.

Green Bay Y. M. C. A. and the Kimberly Athletics took the meas-

NAME GRID CAPTAIN
Football sweaters will be awarded gridmen between halves at the Lawrence-Hamline basketball game, and the name of the 1929 captain of the Vikes also will be announced, according to A. C. Denney, director of athletics. About 20 members of the Vikes squad won grid letters. The four senior men, one of whom probably will win the captaincy, are "Tiny" Krohn, Carl Voelck, Gib St. Mitchell and Ray Brussat.

ure of Denney's teams, but the coach wasn't much interested in the procedure. He had scheduled the contests to see just what his men were capable of but so far hasn't satisfied himself that he knows all there is to know.

One change in the Vike lineup may come at the last minute. Schneller, center was to write an examination Thursday afternoon which, if passed, would make him eligible for play against Hamline. It he failed to make the grade Ken Laird is booked to be pivot man. Schneller has an edge over Laird in that he has had an extra year's varsity competition at the post.

The choice as forwards appears to be Jerry Slavik and Biggers, two youngsters who hail from Elgin, Ill. Slavik is a returned guard but he is showing well in his new position and has an uncanny eye for the basket.

This man Biggers is the chap they tell you to watch around Lawrence. He is rated by some as the cleverest ball tosser who has crawled into a Lawrence uniform in a long while. He has an uncanny eye for the basket and lets drive whenever he comes within shooting distance. The shots are not of the long looping variety, just sharp shot when opponents least expect it.

The Vike guards will be Steinberg and Pierce and St. Mitchell. The three appear to be up for first choice despite the fact there are a couple others left in Billie and Ethel Steinberg is coming around into as clever a player as ever trod a Lawrence court. He isn't the type of Eddie Kotal and Pete Briese but he will give the fans more than one enjoyable moment watching him perform. Pierce is a veteran guard although inclined to be erratic at times and just as scintillating as erratic a few minutes later. St. Mitchell is more of Steinberg's type guard and adds considerable fight to the gang.

Little is known of the invaders. No reports have come down from the north on their strength or weaknesses and Coach Denney is expecting the worst. The Scarlet and Grey was beaten by Lawrence at St. Paul last fall by one point and Denney expects a mighty tussle this year. The Hamline teams always have been composed of tall, rangy youths and Friday's team is not expected to be an exception.

SWEDISH RUNNER INSPECTS SCHOOLS

Will Also Investigate Arrangements for 1932 Olympic Games

New York—(AP)—Edvin Wide, the Swedish schoolmaster and track star, has arrived in the United States but not, primarily, to run.

An official of the Swedish school gymnasium department, Wide will spend the next seven months studying the public schools in various United States cities and in addition, to observe under what conditions Swedish athletes will have to compete in the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles.

Although his visit is chiefly of a business character, Wide will do some competitive running here before he sails for Sweden July 26. He will not run before the middle of February, he says, and perhaps not then. He needs at least five weeks to get into condition for he has not run since the Swedish championship meet Aug. 22.

Wide will spend about ten days in New York and then will travel to Washington, Chicago, Los Angeles and many cities enroute.

CALIFORNIA CAGERS BEAT U. OF KANSAS

Berkeley, Cal.—(AP)—The University of California basketball squad opened its season Thursday night by outplaying the University of Kansas quintet in every department of the game to win, 32 to 21.

Stevens, California forward, was the star, scoring four field goals and a free throw for high point man. Cor, Kansas guard was high point man of the Midwest aggregation, scoring 6 points. Fouls were frequent and the 25 called slowed up the game considerably. Kansas seemed unable to get through the California five man defense.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
A LOT of the young men in the Western Conference chuckle at Grand Old Man Stagg. . . . But he was the only one with enough drag to lure the Yale team out into his territory. . . . Yale and his Chicago team play in Chicago on Oct. 17, 1931. . . . And they won't play in Soldiers' Field. . . . Jimmy Reese was no sure of his job with the New York Yankees that he's not going to get it. . . . He was sold with Larry to the Yanks for delivery next spring. . . . But he took his job so easy last season that the Yanks wouldn't take him. . . . And there's some kind of a moral there. . . . The Washingtons let Crowder go because he had a bad stomach. . . . And Roy Johnson, the $70,000 Detroit fly snatcher, cured himself of a bad tummy by drinking the juice of Liberty cabbage.

ARRANGE BOUTS FOR WRESTLERS, BOXERS

Lawrence Mat Team to Meet U. W. Here, Saturday, Jan. 12

Returning to school after a two week's absence, Coach Clarence H. Rasmussen of Lawrence college, has found his work all cut out for him as he prepares a wrestling squad for a meet with Wisconsin, Jan. 12, and a couple boxers for amateur bouts in Milwaukee the same week.

Realizing that the only way to interest athletes in sports is to arrange competitive meets, Director A. C. Denney and Coach Rasmussen have gotten together on the proposition and the two dates are the result. The wrestling match will feature men in all the eight general classes. The bouts will begin at 2:30 in the afternoon and a small admission fee will be charged.

OPPOSES WOMEN IN 1932 OLYMPIC MEET

New York—(AP)—Opposition expressed by the women's division of the National Amateur Athletic Federation to participation by women in the 1932 Olympic games will not prevent that part of the program from being carried out in full according to Olympic and A. A. U. leaders.

Addressing the fifth annual meeting of the women's division Thursday, Ethel Perrin, chairman of the division's executive committee reported that her committee had endorsed the launching of a campaign to educate girls in schools and colleges and other girls of school and college age not to train for competition in the next Olympic games to be held in Los Angeles.

Most Olympic and A. A. U. officials thought the woman's organization's opposition would have no effect on the program.

High School Five Meets Sheboygan In Chair City

Game Marks Opening of 1929 Fox River Conference Season

Appleton high school cagers will embark upon their first influence trip on the basketball court Friday evening when they meet Sheboygan at Sheboygan. The game marks the opening of the Fox river conference season, and it will be some indication of how the hogs will stack up against other schools this winter.

Coach Joseph Shields has been driving his charges hard during the week, twice daily, and believes they now are ready for whatever may come their way. He has spent all his time on five men who will carry the brunt of the work this winter and if they don't come through it'll be a mighty gloomy season.

Benny Rafoth, captain of the team, will again perform at center. He has become better acquainted with his maneuvers in a court and should be ready for the game of a lifetime. Berg and Gochbauer are Shields' choices for forwards, the best ball tossers in the valley and the latter rapidly being moulded in to a clever player. These three men will bear the brunt of the offense and it will be up to them to do the counting.

The guards on the Orange team are Bobby Kunitz and Jake Schaefer.

Here's Another Reason Sharkey Can't Cop Title

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK—(AP)—Perhaps it's a bit late to bring the matter up but if there is anything in ring precedent Jack Sharkey, the silent sailor man from Boston, can never win the heavyweight championship Gene Tunney renounced. He has the wrong name.

Many years ago the broad-shouldered Lithuanian withdrew from Binghamton, N. Y., to join the navy and see the world. He reported to existing headquarters with a handle that read something like Paul Cuckoschay. Something had to be done about it, especially when the big youngster turned out to be quite a fighter aboard ship. There was no Joe Humphries among the navy announcers.

So Paul Cuckoschay, following along the trail of Tom Sharkey, another great heavyweight who came out of Uncle Sam's seafarers and into fame, took the name Jack Sharkey. Later he petitioned the courts for legal title to the name and it was granted.

If Sharkey, or Cuckoschay, had ever delved into heavyweight title records before submitting to the change, he might not have done that. For the records show that in the whole history of 46 heavyweight champions, from the time of the great Jim Figg in 1719 down to James Joseph Tunney, nicknamed Gene, these never has been a titleholder who failed to fight under his own name. That, if nothing else, gives Young Bill Sharkey, fighting under the family name, a slight advantage over the Boston broadcaster in the title scheduled at Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 27. It means that Sharkey, if successful, in his first engagement, still must face an additional hurdle to Jack Dempsey's left hook if he opposes the famous son of the Salt Lake Dempseys in the final round for the title.

CONTINUE HEARING ON BRIBE CHARGES

Boston City Councillor Expected to Take Stand Friday

Boston—(AP)—City Councillor William G. Lynch was expected to appear Friday before the Boston Finance commission, which is investigating charges that 13 councilmen sought $5,000 each from the Boston National league baseball club for permitting big league baseball on Sundays.

Lynch was named by Emil E. Fuchs, president and manager of the Braves, as the one approached him in his hotel suite last November to lay before him the demands of the other councilmen.

Fuchs who told his story at the first day of the inquiry, was followed on the stand Thursday by Charles F. Adams, vice president of the club, president of the Boston Bruins hockey club, and the man who made the original charges.

Adams corroborated in a general way the testimony of Fuchs and declared that before the sports bill had come before the council for action he received a telephone call from an anonymous person warning him that "certain members of the council were trying to get $5,000 each and if they didn't get it they would delay until the bill had cobwebs on it."

MICKEY O'NEIL WILL SHOW IN WHITE CITY

Chicago—(AP)—Mickey O'Neil, Milwaukee Junior welterweight, and Bobby Tracey, Buffalo, have been matched for a 10-round bout at White City next Monday night.

CHAMPIONS WHO AIN'T

It is interesting to observe in the rating of boxers made by a number of competent critics that four champions are not honored with the position at the top of their class.

The champions who have been written out of their place at the head of the divisions are Joe De Marco, the welterweight champion; Andre Routis, the featherweight champion; Bushey Graham, the bantamweight champion and Izzy Schwartz, the flyweight champion.

The experts seem to think that Jackie Fields is the best welterweight in the country; that Ben Bas is a better feather than Routis; that Fiala La Barba is the best of the bantams and that Spider Plandner, the little Frenchman, is the real leader of the flyweight division.

MURPHY ARRIVES TO TAKE OVER NEW JOB

Indoor Crew Work Scheduled to Get Started Next Monday

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin's new rowing generation rose today with the arrival here of George W. Murphy, who becomes the university's head crew coach. At 20 years old, Murphy is the nation's youngest head crew coach as succeeding the veteran Harry E. (Dad) Vail, who died last fall in New Brunswick.

Murphy, familiarly known as Mike, comes to Wisconsin after five years as freshman coach at Yale university New Haven, Conn. Before that time, Murphy stroked the University of Washington, Seattle, crews of 1921 and 1922.

The new coach makes six Washington graduates head coaches of the 12 collegiate institutions that support rowing in the United States. He brings a new technique to Wisconsin rowing—the Leader stroke, developed by Ed Leader, Yale's varsity coach.

When Leader went to Yale in 1923 from Washington, he took his former stroke as freshman supervisor and since that time Murphy's freshmen have competed in 15 races against eastern collegiate competition. Eleven races have been victorious.

George E. Little, Wisconsin's athletic director, in commenting on Murphy's appointment has said the new Coach comes highly recommended by both Yale authorities and rivals, who have observed the work of his crews. He adds the Badger equipment will be brought to a par with other schools and that Wisconsin probably will be representative yearly in the Toughkeepsie regatta.

The Badgers have never won the varsity eight-oared race at the Hudson class, though they have finished near the front frequently. Murphy will face the task of the developing of a winner against odds greater than any other crew coach faces. The odds are climatic and with the severe northern winters that keep Lake Mendota frozen until late in the spring. The Badgers get on water weeks later than other contestants.

Murphy's task will be one of quick development. Indoor crew work is scheduled to begin Monday.

WOMEN BOWLERS WILL MEET, FRIDAY, JAN. 11

The annual meeting of members of the Appleton Woman's Bowling association which was first scheduled for last month but postponed because of numerous cases of the "flu" will be held at 7:30 Friday evening, Jan. 11, according to Ellen L. Dunn, president. The meeting will be held in the Arcade building and all women bowlers have been asked to be present.

Don Noble, Dayton, whose goal won the intercollegiate championship for Penn last year, was also admitted to the fraternity.

Wisconsin Basketeers Appear To Be Strong

Madison—(AP)—If figures don't lie, the University of Wisconsin basketball team is potentially greater than the third-place team of last year.

Statistics compiled by The Associated Press for the victorious four-game prelude to the Western conference season show the Badgers allowed their opponents an average of only 19.75 points, while averaging 33 points themselves. Last year, Wisconsin led the Big Ten league in defense allowing 23.3 points a game. Offensively, the Badgers counted only 27.3 points a game. According to the compilations this season, Wisconsin is 4.65 points stronger defensively and 5.7 points stronger offensively.

Victories have been counted over Franklin college, Pittsburgh university, Lombard college, Galesburg, Ill., and Carleton college, Northfield, Minn.

"Bud" Foster, the Badgers' fast-traveling junior forward, is far out in front in scoring, counting 17 field goals and 11 free throws for a 45-point total. His closest rival is the senior Lylean Miller, who has made nine field goals and four free throws for 22 points.

In only two games have the Badgers seen one of their players ejected for four personal fouls. In the opener Ted Chmielewski, the guard, was forced out in the Franklin contest, while Henry Kowalczyk had four fouls against him in the New Years' game against Carleton.

In the tabulations, G signifies games; FG, field goals; FT, free throws; TP, total points; FTM, free throws missed, and PF, personal fouls.

VIKE GRID SCHEDULE STILL HAS OPEN DATE

Reopening of Lawrence college for the long grid between New Years and Easter, finds nothing accomplished in the way of filling the last and only open date on the Lawrence college football schedule. Letters were sent out to several schools, among them Lake Forest, in an effort to fill the date, but no answers have yet been received. Coach Clarence Rasmussen expects to be ready to announce the opponent for the last game in a few days, however.

HE DOES THIS WELL, TOO

Lloyd Thomas, who gained all sorts of praise as a back for Southern California this year, is captain of the Trojan basketball team and regarded as one of the best players on the Pacific coast.

TWO BADGERS HAVE PULLED "DUMB" RUNS

Kreuz and Holmes Emulated
Roy Riegels Several Years Ago

Madison — (AP)—The 65 yard run made by Roy Riegels towards his own goal line after he picked up a fumble and became confused on directions in the California-Georgia Tech game at Pasadena, Cal., New Year's day, recalled two similar mistakes made by former University of Wisconsin football players.

Joe Steinhauer, Wisconsin swimming coach, remembers when Louis Kreuz, former Badger fullback and Harold Holmes, halfback, nearly duplicated Riegels' performance. In the Minnesota game at Camp Randall in 1915, Steinhauer says, Kreuz recovered a Gopher fumble and raced 40 yards before being downed by a teammate on the two yard line. The Badgers fared better than did California, however, for the punt was good.

Harold Holmes caught a punt in the Wisconsin-Chicago game at Stagg Field in 1919 and ran 25 yards toward his own goal before realizing his error. He turned and ran back 10 yards before being downed.

THEY HAVE PITY ON

MEN WHO ARE OLD

Chicago—Bunny Brief who has been playing major and minor league baseball for approximately 20 years, has one more ambition to achieve before he will quit the game.

Brief has never stolen home. "When I started the 1928 season, I had an idea everything that could happen to a fellow in baseball except two things had happened to me," he says, "and one of them— hitting into a triple play—came early in the year. I hit into a double play the first game of the season. 'I never have stolen home in a game, however, and I hope that I do it this year in my twentieth season. Then I'll quit.'"

American Association fans, who know what a slow, lumbering runner Brief is, are hoping that the thrill of Brief trying to steal home be enacted in their city.

Educated Toes Almost Unheard Of Last Fall

BY BOB MATHERNE

ONE of the surprise answers that came back from 60 representative football elevens asked for a list of their scoring plays in 1928 was the one to the question for the number of field goals made by dropkicks this season.

It hardly was expected that these 60 colleges would report enough such scoring plays to make you dizzy counting them but it certainly wasn't thought before-hand that the number which would actually be reported would be merely—THREE!

The answer from 58 colleges to the question was—none.

The fifty-ninth answer was from Colorado College and that institution reported that "Dutch" Clark, standing on his 36-yard line, dropkicked three points against D.aver.

Harvard checked in late with two dropkicks for field goals, one by Gilligan from the six-yard line against Springfield and one by Putnam from the 14-yard line in the Yale game.

If it hadn't been for these three field goals by Colorado and Harvard, the answer might have been NONE from all in this group.

One can advance many reasons for this decrease in field goals by dropkicking but the best reason is that the answer might have been NONE from all in this group.

4 GROUPS ENROLLED IN COUNTY PLAY CONTEST

Four groups have entered the Outagamie home talent play contest which will be held on Jan. 16, according to A. G. Mestling, county superintendent of schools and chairman of the arrangements committee. The place for holding the contest has not yet been decided according to Mr. Mestling.

Organizations that have signified their intention of taking part in the contest are Sunny Corners Parent Teachers association; Pioneer Parent Teacher association; Ridger Parent Teacher association; Sunny Corner Grange. The Badger school group, which will present "Me and Betsy" is the only group to have submitted the name of its play so far.

The winner of the county contest will take part in the inter-county or district contest which is scheduled to be held at the Roosevelt Junior high school here on Saturday, Jan. 19. Outagamie, Winnebago and Waupaca-co. contest winners will take part in this meet. The winner of the district contest will go to Madison in February to take part in the state contest.

The second period of ten weeks of pump classes at the Appleton vocational school will get underway at 7:30 next Thursday evening, according to H. G. Keyes, instructor, coordinator of the pulp and paper industry. Glenn Pelton will be the instructor for the next period. Men interested in the maintenance and repair of mill pumps are invited to join the evening classes, according to Mr. Keyes.

PUMP CLASSES TO BE RESUMED THURSDAY

The state of Wisconsin will receive $1,854,580 federal road aid according to the apportionment made this week by the secretary of agriculture. This money will be available for highway construction purposes after the beginning of the next fiscal year on July 1. The total amount to be expended by the government is $73,125,000. Usually the states pay half the cost of federal-aid road projects.

Federal aid funds are administered by the bureau of public roads and are available only for routes on the federal-aid system. During the last fiscal year improvements were completed on 8,181 miles of federal-aid highways. Four states and one territorial possession receive the least amount of aid, $365,625 each. The state of Texas, which receives $4,531,162 federal aid, gets the largest amount. Only 11 states in the union receive more funds than Wisconsin.

The new foundry of the Appleton Machine company under construction on S. Oneida-st is rapidly nearing completion, and the company has started moving sand-blasting equipment and other machinery into the new structure. The pattern rooms have been completed and construction work is now in progress on the machine floor. It is expected the structure will be ready for occupancy within the next few weeks.

R. E. Carneros who was confined to St. Elizabeth hospital for several weeks, has been removed to his home and his condition is much improved, according to his physicians. Mr. Carneros submitted to an operation at the hospital.

Henry Crowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Crowe, 814 S. Mason-st, left Wednesday for the University of Wisconsin, where he is a junior.

NEW DEPUTIES MUST GIVE SURETY BOND

Sheriff-elect Fred W. Giese Announces New Qualification

Sheriff-elect Fred W. Giese, who takes office on Monday, announced Thursday that new deputy sheriffs appointed by him will be required to furnish bond.

Mr. Giese pointed out that this will be a protection for the public and the officer and that it would add prestige and dignity to the office. He said that sometimes deputies exceeded their authority while in office and the bonds would protect both them and the public. So far as is known, this will be the first time in the history of the county that deputies have had to furnish a bond. Previously any citizen was eligible to carry a star and hold that office but Mr. Giese's new plan will be a sort of qualification which must be met before an appointment is made.

The sheriff-elect also announced that all deputies would be required to deposit $2 with the county clerk before they received their stars. This plan was inaugurated several months ago by the present sheriff, Otto Zuehlke and it is on his advice that the new sheriff will continue the practice. When the star is returned at the expiration of the term, the deposit will be returned. This deposit will protect the county from the loss incurred each year when stars are not returned.

GOVERNOR'S CLERK GETS STATE JOB

Madison — (AP)—Fate of one of the employees in the Governor's office has been settled for the period after Jan. 7, when the present governor's term ends. Miss Gladys McGuire, clerk in the executive offices, will become a member of the state railroad commission, and probably will be one of the secretaries to a commissioner. It was understood that the railroad commission bid for Miss McGuire's services shortly after it became known that there would be a change in administration. Under the civil service she was still eligible for state employment, and therefore able to accept the utilities regulating bureau position.

Miss Ida Kissel, executive clerk in the main office of the Governor's suite, has not yet announced her future work, nor have Mrs. Lorraine Kessonich and Mrs. Erna Schwen, clerk-stenographers.

Col. J. L. Johns, private secretary to the executive, has already said that he will resume his law practice at Appleton.

MEALTIME STORIES BY THE MAN-IN-THE-MOON

A wise old owl once said to me—
And I believe you will agree
It's true right now what he said then
"A steak's the food for hungry men."

If during the coming year, you would enjoy meals of the finest meat in the land—then you had better follow the lead of countless other people of this community who in the past have appreciated the fine quality of Voecks Bros. Meat. For over a quarter of a century Voecks Bros. have served the people of this community with a quality of meat and poultry that has never once been questioned.

"Freshman Hop"

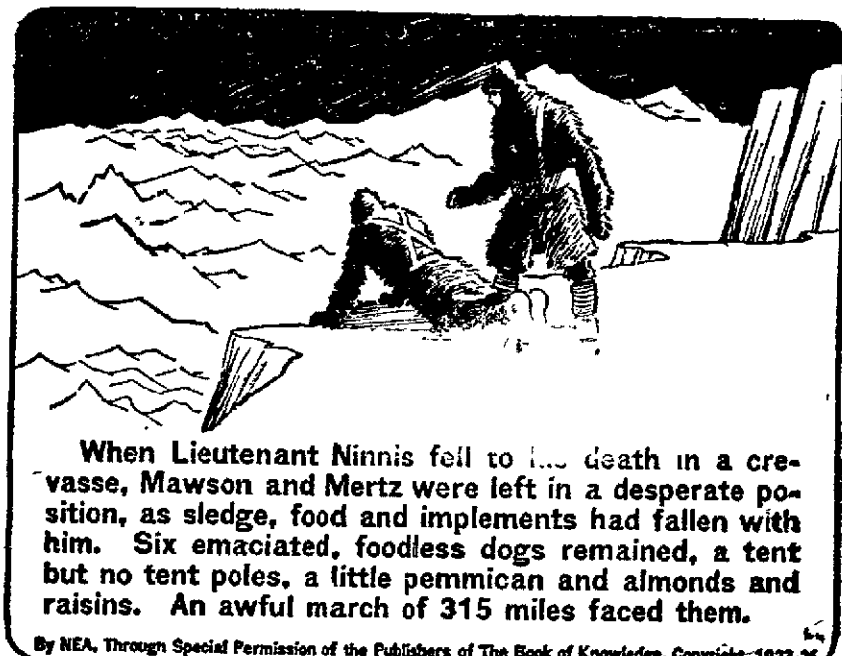

The "Freshman Hop" was so peppy that all the boys took extra slippers to use when their first pair wore down. Pettis and His Pets tell you the story with words and music. And, man, the music is right! Every measure uncovers a new trick in instrumental effects. Hear it at our store. If it doesn't make you start tapping your toes to keep time, don't buy. "Men Of The South Pole"

When Lieutenant Ninnis fell to his death in a crevasse, Mawson and Mertz were left in a desperate position, as sledge, food and implements had fallen with him. Six emaciated, foodless dogs remained, a tent but no tent poles, a little pemmican and almonds and raisins. An awful march of 315 miles faced them.

They found the sledge they had previously abandoned and broke part of it up for tent poles. One by one the starving dogs died.

When a dog would die part of his flesh would be given to the other dogs, part of it would be eaten by the men.

Finally the last dog died. Desperately the men carried on. They boiled snow for water and soaked it in bags which had contained tea or cocoa. Then poor Mertz sickened and died. Mawson was alone in that terrible land. Before him was a march of 100 miles. He had a few handfuls of raisins and the carcass of a dead dog for food. (To Be Continued)

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNS26,238 LIBRARY
BOOKS CIRCULATED
IN LAST 12 MONTHSEpidemic of Sickness Results in Decrease from Past Two Years

Kaukauna—Twenty six thousand two hundred thirty eight books were issued at the Kaukauna free public library during the past year, according to the yearly report of Miss Kathryn Hornbrook, librarian, a decrease from 1925 when 27,180 books were issued and from 1927 when the circulation was 27,968 books.

Miss Hornbrook said the decrease was caused by the epidemic of sickness in the city just before Christmas. In former years all the Christmas program books were taken from the library, but in 1925, 1926 and 1927 Christmas books were in circulation, the librarian reported. Another reason for the decrease is that schools are concentrating on the reading of one book instead of several books which cuts the circulation to a large extent.

March was the best month at the library when 3,264 books were put in circulation. The daily average for that month was 121 books. The poorest month was September when 1,311 books were issued. The best day was Saturday, March 10 when 233 books were put out.

Of the total output of 1928 11,812 were children's books, and 14,267 were for adults. German books totalled 161. The outlook for the year 1929 is better than it was for last year. The library appropriation for 1929 is expected to increase the circulation to a large extent.

WORTHMAN READS PAPER
AT MINISTERIAL MEET

Kaukauna—The Rev. E. L. Worthman, pastor of the Immanuel Reformed church appeared on the program of the Fox River Valley Ministerial association meeting at the Appleton Y. M. C. A. at 12:30 Thursday noon. He read a paper entitled "The Modern Concept of God." The Rev. Roscoe Barnes of the Methodist church also attended the meeting.

DON'T USE STREETS FOR SLEIGH SLIDES

Kaukauna—Chief of Police R. H. McCarty warned parents Friday to keep their children from sleighing in the roads. There is too much traffic and the safety of children is endangered, he said.

POLICE NAB MAN FOR FIRING REVOLVER

Kaukauna—Police were called to Lincoln-ave early Wednesday by Fritz Milz when he heard shooting. When the police got there they found Kendall Borsen, said to be deranged, disturbing the peace with a revolver. Two boxes of shells were found on him. Borsen was taken to the county jail.

LEGION BOWLERS TO ROLL FRIDAY NIGHT

Kaukauna—Members of the Legion Bowling team will occupy the Hilgenberg alleys Friday evening. The Machine Gunners roll 5 O. S. team and the Infantry rolls the Signal Corps on the 7 o'clock shift; and the Navy rolls the Artillery and the Engineers battle the Aviators on the 9 o'clock shift.

TAX COLLECTIONS
LAG, TREASURER SAYS

Kaukauna—Taxpayers are a bit slow in paying their taxes this year, Joseph Dietzler, city treasurer reports. Only small amounts have been paid so far; the largest single tax does not amount to over $300. Sam Norton was the first to buy a dog license for this year.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—Merritt Kavanaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Kavanaugh, left Wednesday for Madison where he will resume his studies at the University of Wisconsin.

KAWS PRIMED FOR GAME AT NEENAH

Ott Sure His Team Will Force Champs to Exert Themselves

Kaukauna—Though Coach Elmer Ott does not expect his Kaukauna high school basketball team to win Friday evening, he hopes to give the Neenah team a hard fight at that city. The squad is primed for its first Northeastern Wisconsin Inter-scholastic league basketball game of the season.

The starting line-up probably will include Marvin Miller and Ralph Sager at guards, Captain Farwell and Robert Main at forwards and Richard Landreman at center. In reserve he will have Ross Farwell, Doering, Schmidt, Nicholson and Dix.

Neenah capped the league championship last year and dopesters have already picked it as the leading year. Kaukauna will be unable to play on its reputation made last year as it ended up on the bottom of the league with only one win. The boys are full of fight, however, as was shown in their tussle with Appleton in a non-conference game before Christmas. Appleton won a non-conference game from Neenah early in the season and the Neenah team showed plenty of strength.

As in former years the Neenah team is noted for its height. This will be a handicap for the locals who have only one tall man, Landreman, on the team. The squad had some lengthy practices this week.

FORMER STOCKBRIDGE
MEN CALLED BY DEATH

Special to Post-Crescent
Stockbridge—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luedke of Stockbridge, and Edgar Luedke of Hilbert, were at Menasha Monday to attend the funeral of Mr. Steber, once an old resident here.

News was received here of the death of Smith T. Deming, 66, at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at his home in Fond du Lac. Mr. Deming, a former Stockbridge farmer, had retired and for the past six years has made his home in Fond du Lac. He is survived by his widow and one brother, Jed of California. The body was taken to the Zacherl Funeral home and returned to the residence late Monday afternoon. Services were held from the residence at 9:30 Thursday morning and at 10 o'clock from St. Patrick church. The Rev. T. J. Cosgrave officiated and interment was made in Calvary cemetery.

COP CELEBRATES NEW YEARS DAY BY
KILLING YOUTHFires Off Pistol to Welcome
1929 and Bullet Enters
Boy's Brain

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Harold Burkart, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Burkart of Detroit, formerly of this city, who was fatally shot New Year's eve by a Detroit policeman will be held at the home of C. M. Patterson, 116 Sarah-st., at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Burkart, 19, was walking on the street with three other boys and at twelve o'clock they passed two policemen on a corner. They exchanged greetings with the police and when they had walked a short distance the whistles and bells began to blow and ring in the new year and the two policemen celebrated by firing their guns. A bullet from a gun of one of the policemen, Byron Garrett, hit Burkart who crumpled to the sidewalk but the policemen were unaware of the happening. Garrett is being held on a charge of manslaughter. He claims there was a lot of shooting at the time and that it might have been a bullet from some other gun that killed the boy.

Burkart is survived by his parents, two brothers, Chester of Wausau and Walter of Detroit and one sister, Mrs. Glen Tobey of Detroit.

CAR BADLY DAMAGED IN MISHAP NEAR HILBERT

Special to Post-Crescent
Hilbert—The Women of St. Mary church will sponsor a card party in the basement hall on Sunday, Jan. 6. Skat, schafkopf, and five hundred will be played and lunch will be served.

On Wednesday evening while driving on highway 57, two miles south of here, the car occupied by Anthony Mader and three friends skidded into the ditch when the driver lost control. The car was badly damaged but none of the occupants was hurt.

Mrs. Augusta Kasper returned home Wednesday evening from Random Lake, where she visited New Year's day. She was accompanied by Lyle Jaackels.

Solomon Specials and the Favorites, bowling teams, are planning to attend the state bowling tournament at Sheboygan this year. Next week the bowling league resumes action and an interesting week is looked for.

F. E. Pieper attended the directors meeting of the Valders Canning company at Valders a few days ago.

Nick Schreiner and daughters, Marcella, Margaret and Loraine, and Elmer Miesherger motored to Fond du Lac Wednesday to visit Sister Adelbert at St. Agnes Convent.

Elmer Miesherger, who has spent the past week here with relatives, left Tuesday for Oshkosh to resume his studies.

Mrs. Anton Seichter and Marcella, accompanied by Hilman Woelfel of Hayton, are visiting relatives at Milwaukee for a few days.

Mrs. Anna Jacobs returned home Thursday morning after spending a week at Fond du Lac and Chilton with relatives.

Mrs. Math Jaackels of Chilton, visited at the Anton Baer and J. N. Joackels homes Thursday.

Mrs. George Diedrich Sr., and son John were business callers at Chilton Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGraw returned home Wednesday evening from Waterloo after spending New Year's day with relatives there.

Rud Jantz of Bonduel, was a business caller here Thursday.

NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Geo. Walter Brewing Co. will be held on Tuesday Jan. 15, 1929, at 7:30 p. m. for the election of a board of directors for the ensuing year and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such meeting.

Several clubs hold meetings at Kimberly.

Special to Post-Crescent
Kimberly—The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Anderson. A business meeting was held.

The Bridge club was entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Art Tiedeman. Mrs. Clarence Pauers of Appleton was a guest of the club. Two tables were in play. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. C. Pauers, first, and Mrs. Ben Grab, second.

As a regular Saturday night feature the Kimberly club has engaged some of the best western pictures. Special prices have been arranged for children. On Saturday evening, Jan. 5, a Leo Maloney hit "Yellow Contraband" will be presented. In this picture Maloney portrays a dual role in which he is seen as the conventional cowboy and as a dope smuggler.

The Rev. Mr. Perkins of Green Bay conducted a midnight service at the Presbyterian church New Year's evening. During the early part of the evening those attending the services were entertained by motion pictures. They watched the old year out and the new year in.

WANT STATE TO HELP WITH SNOW REMOVAL

Superior—(P)—With legislation providing for a uniform state wide system of winter maintenance of highway and system of hard surfaced roads running north and south throughout the state expected to be the paramount question, representatives of the northern tier of counties, forming the Brule Tri-county association will meet here January 5, to discuss their common problems.

Need for concerted action on the part of the northern counties in pushing a bill providing for a 2 cent increase in the gasoline tax to furnish revenue for the snow removal and highway projects, was stressed by E. F. Daniels, president of the association. The measures is meeting organized opposition in the southern part of the state where the snow removal problem is not so acute and where the hard roads program is already well advanced, Mr. Daniels said.

Fifty per cent of the additional revenue from the bill would be devoted to snow removal and 50 per cent to the 10-year hard roads program. The bill provides that the southern counties would be reimbursed for the concrete roads already built there.

The majority of the northern county board approved the measure of their November meeting, Mr. Daniels said.

The prohibition law may be an experiment, as Mr. Hoover says, but it's not half the experiment these days taking a drink is.

Chilton Chief of Police is Dead

Funeral Services for Thomas Barry Will Be Held Tomorrow Morning

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—Thomas Barry, 73, chief of police of this city, died at Appleton late Wednesday night. He had been in poor health for several years. Mr. Barry was born in Erie, Pa., and came to Wisconsin with his parents as a child. In 1883 he married Miss Theresa King, and they lived on a farm in Chilton town until 1900, when they moved to Chilton city, where they have since resided.

He is survived by his widow, five sons, James of Sheboygan, Thomas of Milwaukee, Alfred of this city, Donald of Cleveland, Ohio, and Robert of Sheboygan, and by two daughters, Miss Beatrice of Milwaukee and Miss Bessie of Chicago. He also leaves six grandchildren.

The funeral will be conducted from St. Augustine church at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning by the Rev. James Meagher. Burial will be in St. Augustine cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. August Schewe, who died at a hospital in Merrill on Monday, was held from St. Augustine church at 9 o'clock on Thursday morning. The service being conducted by the Rev. James Meagher. Burial was in St. Augustine cemetery. The bearers were Arno Tank, Theodore Stendel, Walter Kroehnke, James McGrath, Hubert Schmidtkofer and Robert Hugo.

Those from away who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leidger and son Ernest, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Schewe and sons Ralph and Gordon, of Merrill; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lantz of Stevens Point; Miss Margaret Schewe and Albert Schewe of West Bend; Henry Schewe of Milwaukee; Mrs. Gerald Pittman of Milwaukee; Mrs. O. Kimberly—The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Anderson. A business meeting was held.

The Bridge club was entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Art Tiedeman. Mrs. Clarence Pauers of Appleton was a guest of the club. Two tables were in play. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. C. Pauers, first, and Mrs. Ben Grab, second.

As a regular Saturday night feature the Kimberly club has engaged some of the best western pictures. Special prices have been arranged for children. On Saturday evening, Jan. 5, a Leo Maloney hit "Yellow Contraband" will be presented. In this picture Maloney portrays a dual role in which he is seen as the conventional cowboy and as a dope smuggler.

The Rev. Mr. Perkins of Green Bay conducted a midnight service at the Presbyterian church New Year's evening. During the early part of the evening those attending the services were entertained by motion pictures. They watched the old year out and the new year in.

WANT STATE TO HELP WITH SNOW REMOVAL

Superior—(P)—With legislation providing for a uniform state wide system of winter maintenance of highway and system of hard surfaced roads running north and south throughout the state expected to be the paramount question, representatives of the northern tier of counties, forming the Brule Tri-county association will meet here January 5, to discuss their common problems.

Need for concerted action on the part of the northern counties in pushing a bill providing for a 2 cent increase in the gasoline tax to furnish revenue for the snow removal and highway projects, was stressed by E. F. Daniels, president of the association. The measures is meeting organized opposition in the southern part of the state where the snow removal problem is not so acute and where the hard roads program is already well advanced, Mr. Daniels said.

Fifty per cent of the additional revenue from the bill would be devoted to snow removal and 50 per cent to the 10-year hard roads program. The bill provides that the southern counties would be reimbursed for the concrete roads already built there.

The majority of the northern county board approved the measure of their November meeting, Mr. Daniels said.

The prohibition law may be an experiment, as Mr. Hoover says, but it's not half the experiment these days taking a drink is.

Home ties bind, if you can wear them.

Several clubs hold meetings at Kimberly.

BUS LICENSE FEE MATTER UP IN AIR

Menasha's Insistence on $300 Fee Makes Cooperation Difficult

Although Appleton bus licenses come due Jan. 1, and technically there is no established license fee until the city council sets one, Appleton officials will pursue a policy of watchful waiting until they see what action other cities in the valley take about the fee, according to Mayor A. C. Rule.

The decision is the result of action taken by Menasha to increase the rates and the reluctance of Neenah and Kaukauna to adopt the $50 fee suggested last summer at a meeting of mayors of valley cities. If other cities increase the rate Appleton will, the mayor stated Friday morning, for busses travel over as many miles of Appleton streets as they do the other municipalities.

The other city attorneys were instructed to call a meeting of mayors of valley cities, to consider a common fee. But because Menasha has fixed the fee at $300 per bus and intends to maintain that rate even if the matter goes to court, and the reluctance of Neenah to lower her $200 fee, the mayor has decided a meeting won't accomplish much.

The question came before the council, the aldermen seemed to favor at least a $100 fee per bus. After considerable discussion they agreed to adopt a fee of $25 for the next six months. This was in accordance with an agreement made at a meeting of mayors that a resolution would be put through city councils, if possible, setting the license in all cities in the valley at $50 per bus per year.

COMMITTEE APPROVES BONDS OF OFFICERS

Bank depository bonds and bonds of the county officers were approved Thursday afternoon by the finance committee which met at the court-house. Bonds of the county officers are as follows: John E. Hantschel, county clerk, $2,000; A. G. Koch, register of deeds, $500; Stanley A. Stalid, district attorney, $1,000; F. M. Charlesworth, surveyor, $500; Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, $1,000; Dr. H. E. Ellis, coroner, $500; P. W. Giese, sheriff, $2,500; Sydney Shannon, clerk of court, $5,000.

The county clerk is instructed to advertise for rates of interest on two county trust funds. One is for $50,000 and the other totals $25,000.

ARTILLERY BAND TO GIVE CONCERT TUESDAY

The next concert by the 120th field artillery band will be played at Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday, Jan. 8, according to Edward F. Munn, director. The program will feature several clarinet solos by O. J. Thompson who has just returned from an extended tour of the country as a member of Sousa's band.

Another feature of the program will be dance numbers by Miss Noretta Roemer, Vesper Chamberlin, Leone Tennesen and Grace Doyle. The young ladies made a hit at the annual Elk Charity show and have been elected on the band program for Tuesday.

OPEN TREASURER'S OFFICE MONDAY NIGHT

Although the city treasurer's office will close at noon Saturday, it will be open from 7 to 8 o'clock Monday evening for the convenience of tax payers, according to Fred E. Bachman treasurer. The office is closed Saturday afternoons because of inability to bank receipts during that time. However, keeping the office open from 7 to 8 o'clock Monday does not interfere with the treasurer's office and does help tax payers.

DATE CARDS TO THOSE WHO VOTED ON NOV. 6

Employees the city clerk's office have started putting the date of the last election on registration cards of all persons who voted at that time. The date of election at which voters cast their ballot is required under the new registration law. The work was started Monday and will be done during spare time.

C. C. TO GET FOLDERS ON AIR MAIL USES

Two thousand folders on the advantages of air mail, listing cities which should be sent air mail and showing the revised air mail map which shows the Fox river valley route, have been ordered by Appleton Chamber of Commerce from the United States chamber at Washington, D. C. The folders also contain air mail schedules, and will be distributed to Appleton manufacturing companies and business houses.

CLERK IS CALLING IN REPORTS ON LICENSES

John F. Hantschel, county clerk, is calling in hunting license reports from those designated by him to handle the license sales in the county. Until all the reports are in, Mr. Hantschel will not be able to complete his records and make his report to the conservation commission, he pointed out.

HIGHWAYS ARE GOOD. SAYS ROAD DEPARTMENT

Despite the recent light snowfall, roads throughout the county are in good condition. It is reported at the office of the county highway commission. Although driving is a little slippery in places, the surface of the highways is smooth, as a rule, and rapid time can be made in all directions out of Appleton.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Two marriage licenses were granted Thursday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk. They were issued to King Schreibe and Alice Behrend, both of Horton; and Fred Haza and Edith M. Van Stijl, both of route 7, Appleton.

MISSION CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Mrs. Herbert Kirschenlore was elected president of the Women's Missionary society of First English Lutheran church, Thursday afternoon at the church. Other officers are Mrs. F. Koch, vice president; Mrs. Charles Huesemann, recording secretary; Mrs. E. Albrecht, financial secretary and treasurer. The elections occurred at the monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the church, as the regular meeting of the Women's Missionary society in December was omitted.

Thirty members answered to roll call. The society was divided into circles which will hold monthly social meetings at the homes of the various members. Captains of the circles are: Circle A, Mrs. A. Kaufman; Circle B, Mrs. H. Kranzsch; Circle C, Mrs. G. Lemke; Circle D, Mrs. Peter Rademacher.

Circle A will hold a baked goods sale on Saturday Jan. 12 at the Photo and Gift shop with Mrs. J. Benz and Mrs. L. Benjamin in charge. On Saturday Jan. 26 a baked goods sale will be conducted by Circle B with Mrs. E. McGregor and Mrs. Haves in charge. The next regular meeting of the Ladies Aid society will be the first Thursday in February at the church.

APPLETON SHIVERS AS COLD WAVE STRIKES

Appleton residents shivered Friday morning in the grip of the cold wave which struck this vicinity, Thursday evening, and sent the mercury down to 5 degrees below zero. The cold wave swept down from the north-west and the mercury fell as far as 12 degrees below zero at Wausau and other northern Wisconsin cities, it was reported. In Milwaukee and other southern Wisconsin cities the mercury explored the regions around the zero mark.

Snow with warmer weather is on the way, the weatherman says in his predictions for Friday night and Saturday. Cloudy weather prevailed over the western states Friday, and snow is falling in the northern sections of the state, it is reported. Winds are shifting from the southwest to the southeast, promising a rise in the mercury. At 12 o'clock Friday noon the thermometer stood at 11 degrees above zero.

PAYMENT OF COSTS SETTLES ANCHOR CASE

The state's case against Woodrow, Fred and Louis Diehl, town of Grand Chute, charged with willfully damaging a log anchor and injuring the wires of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., without first giving the company notice of their intention, was settled Thursday afternoon in municipal court upon payment of costs by the defendants. They were arrested Dec. 15, by Walter Scherck, deputy sheriff, a wire supporting a pole was attached to the ground on property owned by the defendants, who objected to the location of the wire.

BOARD CONSIDERS TWO ZONING APPEALS

Two appeals from the opinion of the city building inspector denying building permits for glass enclosed porches will be considered by the zoning board of appeals at a meeting Monday evening at the city hall. The meeting is the regular monthly session of the board members. The appeals are from Wenzel Blahnik, 300 W. Packard-st., and John Vogl, 714 West Fourth-st.

DEATHS

KOPPLIN FUNERAL

Funeral services for the Rev. A. H. Kopplin were held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the German Methodist church where he served as pastor from 1902 to 1908. The Rev. T. C. Nagler of Green Bay was in charge of the services, and was assisted by other members of the German Chicago Northwest Conference of which the Rev. Mr. Kopplin had been a member for 61 years. Music was provided by a quartet composed of the Rev. H. Feldt, Manitowish W. Wiese, Beaver Dam; T. C. Nagler, and W. Kurz, Clintonville. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

Active bearers were the Rev. A. Panzola of this city; W. Wiese, W. Kurz, R. Cross, W. H. Feldt; and J. H. Hupner, Sheboygan. Honorary bearers were the Rev. L. Schneider, Almond; W. Kraemer, Brillion; F. Hoffman, Ripon; J. Brandt, Willow Creek; and A. Otto, West Bend.

WILLIAMS FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Ann Jones Williams, widow of the late J. B. Williams, were held at 1:30 Friday afternoon at the Schomer funeral home, with Mrs. Myrtle Swift, Madison, in charge.

Bearers were L. J. Lane, Dr. M. C. Monroe and Herbert Ritchie, New London; Edward Flannagan and Dr. Edward Lyons of Black Creek; and F. N. Reliance of Appleton. Burial was at New London.

GORDON PASCHEN

Gordon Paschen, 6-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Paschen, 615 N. Meade-st., died Friday morning at his home.

KOHL FUNERAL

Funeral services for Louis Kohl were held at 8:30 Friday morning at the home at 125 N. Bennett-st., and at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph cemetery. Bearers were John Wilfer, Joseph Shylinski, Ernest Brillon, Moritz Bohman, Henry Simon and Charles Wittgen.

Miss R. A. Hart, 64 Kaukauna, 51 N. Appleton, died Monday morning at the Kaukauna hospital.

PREACHING MISSION DUE FOR APPLETON

Bishop Smith of Chatta- nooga Scheduled to Give Number of Addresses

Bishop H. Lester Smith of Chattanooga, Tenn., will be the speaker at the Preaching Mission to be conducted in Appleton Jan. 13 to 15. The mission is the result of a recent meeting of the Methodist Board of Bishops, and it is one of the twelve to be conducted in the United States during the month of January. Dr. Theodore Henderson, Cincinnati, Ohio, is at the head of the organization in the St. Paul area, of which Appleton is a part.

Bishop Smith will give several evening addresses at the Methodist church, and on Jan. 14, 15 and 16 will speak at Lawrence Memorial chapel during the regular convocation period. Bishop Smith is much interested in work with college young people, and during the days he is here will conduct several roundtable discussions with students. The bishop, who at present is head of the Chattanooga area, until last year was bishop at Bangalore, India, where he went after leaving the Central church of Detroit, Mich., one of the largest church in Michigan.

ALDERMEN CONSIDER PROPERTY DAMAGES

Hold Special Meeting With Owners of Land Near Subway

Members of the city council will meet as a committee at 7:30 Friday evening at the city hall, to discuss damage claims of property holders living near the E. Wisconsin-ave subway.

Several weeks ago the council appointed special aldermen as a committee to investigate the matter. They returned it with an opinion that the damages would not run over $5,000. The claims of the property holders aggregate more than that, and since the city started condemnation proceedings there is an indication that the property owners want to settle at a reasonable figure.

SUBMIT REPORTS AT HEALTH BOARD MEETING

The board of health will hold its regular monthly meeting at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the city hall. Reports of the city health officer, deputy health officer and nurse will be received and routine business transacted. Members of the board are Aldermen Harvey, Pribe and Philipp Vogt, Dr. F. P. Doehary, Dr. Charles Reineck, Mrs. Mable O. Shannon, A. R. Guyer and Mayor A. C. Rule.

TRAFFIC STUDENTS WILL RESUME MEETINGS MONDAY

Meetings of the traffic study section of the traffic division of the chamber of commerce will be resumed at 7:30 Monday evening, after two postponements over the holidays. The group will study organization of industrial and commercial traffic departments, with Roy G. Wort, traffic manager of the chamber, as leader.

Divisions of the main topic are types of traffic departments, the duties of the traffic department, services functions of traffic departments, obtaining and quoting of rates, supervision of tariff files, freight bill auditing, preparing claims, routing, tracing shipments, expediting shipments, arranging for car supply, packing freight, receiving freight, preparation of shipping papers, supervision of local transportation, supervision of plant transportation.

Maennerchor Meets

The Appleton Maennerchor met for rehearsal Thursday evening in the Maennerchor rooms on W. College-ave. Regular business matters were discussed preceding the practice period.

STOCK ASSOCIATION SENDS CALF TO TEXAS

A registered Holstein bull calf was shipped to Little Field, Texas, Thursday, by the Wisconsin Livestock association. The animal was shipped by express and will receive special attention on the trip, according to F. E. Harriman of the association. It is only possible to ship calves to western regions, because older animals usually acquire Texas fever, and only in rare cases have older cows and bulls survived the trip, according to Mr. Harriman.

COMMITTEE SEEKS TO CUT COST OF ADDITION

Suggestions for cutting the cost of the addition proposed for Riverview sanatorium were discussed Thursday afternoon by the grounds and building committee of the county board, meeting with a local architect. The lowest bid recently submitted for the project was $143,000, and the committee hopes to reduce the cost to about $110,000 or less.

The committee also approved bills totaling $13,322.

U. S. MAY SETTLE WITH STEEL FIRM

Compromise Being Discuss- ed in Long Standing Court Litigation

Washington—(AP)—Details of a compromise settlement under which the government would pay $15,000,000 in tax refunds, plus $11,000,000 interest, to the United States Steel corporation in termination of long-standing litigation were made public Friday in testimony given a house appropriations sub-committee.

The explanation was given by Assistant Secretary Bond of the Treasury, who said that if the settlement is accepted by the steel company in lieu of the $161,000,000 it had sued for, the case would be "closed for ever." The settlement, which already has drawn criticism from Representative Garner of Texas, one of the Democratic leaders, was described by Bond as "more of a compromise by the taxpayer than the government," "since the steel company has conceded about 20 important issues."

The original return of the company in 1912, he said, showed a tax of about $109,000,000 but, after years of study, the amount finally was whittled down to $170,000,000. The error, Bond explained, occurred in determining whether certain income of the corporation and its subsidiaries on long term contracts should be credited to 1916 or 1917, the latter year being the first one in which an excess profits tax was paid.

Bond said the refund largely was responsible for an appeal by the treasury to congress for an additional $7,000,000 to repay illegally collected taxes in addition to the $15,000,000 refund, plus $11,000,000 interest.

The report covering the various points of the compromise now is before the joint congressional committee on tax refunds, Bond said, and the treasury proposes to go ahead with the settlements of cases that have arisen from the collection of taxes from the concern in 1918, 1919 and 1920 as soon as the 1917 one has been disposed of.

SCHUMERTH GETS 15 TO 20 YEAR TERM

of Elan Delaney, policeman held in the robbery, has admitted, police say, that Delaney and his friends brought automobiles there and left them for a time, then took them away again.

FARMER IS HELD

Portage—(AP)—George Thielen, a farmer, the father-in-law of Elan Delaney, Green Bay policeman implicated in the robbery of $40,000 from the Farmers' Exchange bank at Green Bay, was scheduled to be arraigned Friday on a charge of concealing stolen property, according to E. J. Morrison, district attorney. Thielen was arrested on his farm at Poyette. He was held in the Columbia-co jail here Thursday night in lieu of bail.

Brown-co authorities recently uncovered $2,300 of the loot which had been buried on the Thielen farm, acting on a tip from Alvin Schumert, 23, of De Pere, who pleaded guilty to participation in the robbery.

Schumert said in his confession that the $2,300 comprised the share given to Delaney for his part in planning the robbery. The Brown-co officials said they had learned the money had been taken to the farm by Delaney and was buried there with knowledge of Thielen.

Delaney was bound over for trial Jan. 21 as an accessory before the fact in the robbery after a preliminary hearing in municipal court at Green Bay Thursday. Schumert, who is awaiting sentence, testified that Delaney was the "mastermind."

Church Picture

The film "Everybody's Acting" will be given at the Congregational church Sunday evening. The picture features Betty Bronson and Louise Dresser.

Pays Inheritance Tax

A check of $1,250 for inheritance tax was received Thursday by Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer. The tax was on the Peter J. Gloude-man estate.

Markets

STOCKS IN SHARP DOWNWARD MOVE

Expansion in Loans Bring Flood of Selling Orders During Early Trade

New York—(AP)—The record-breaking expansion in stock exchange member and federal reserve brokers' loans brought a flood of selling orders into the stock market at the opening Friday, causing sharp recessions throughout the list. Radio quickly broke 7 points, General Electric 5, Nash Motors and American Smelting, Johns Manville, General Motors and Prairie Oil and Gas 3 points or more. With the average yield on high grade securities less than 5 per cent and the cost of carrying them on margin averaging 7 per cent or more, a downward readjustment of quoted values was regarded as inevitable by many brokers. The increase in acceptance rates announced during the last few days also is expected to reduce the volume of calls available on securities collateral.

Some observers attributed the large increase in loans to the fact that many investors bought securities on margin last week in expectation of paying for them with January dividends and interest distributions.

Early selling was directed chiefly against the mechanical and motor and copper shares and high priced specialties which have been popular since the start of the year. Wright Aeronautical, Nash Motors, Johns Manville, Interstate Department Stores, General Cannons Corp., Kellogg, Radio, American and Foreign Power and Borden's food stocks, among others, were early losers of 3 points or more were recorded by U. S. Steel Common, Montgomery Ward, Allied Chemical, Mexican Seaboard and Atlantic Refining.

The closing was steady. Sales approximated $1,400,000 shares. Foreign exchanges slightly higher, with sterling cables sharply higher at $4.85-5.32.

HOOVER POURS OIL ON STORMS OF NICARAGUA

Visit of President-elect
Heals Breach Caused by Marines

Corinto, Nicaragua — The most impressive thing to an American sailing into Corinto harbor, through which 65 per cent of Nicaraguan exports leave the country, probably are the two or three U. S. navy seaplanes on the beach alongside rows of crude native dugouts.

Few planes are to be seen in this part of the world. Conditions are not yet ripe for rapid development of aviation. Most Nicaraguan business, for instance, consists of production and export of bananas and other fruits, coffee and coconuts and importation of cotton cloth, iron, steel, machinery, meats, leather, shoes, automobiles, and chemicals. Neither the business situation nor the side or population of Nicaragua justify use of airplanes except in a small military way.

MUCH LIKE UNITED STATES
But here, as in the rest of Central America, one can find almost anything, on a modified scale, that one can find in the United States. Even the hotel in Corinto, the best encountered by the Hoover party in this section compares very favorably with many leading hostilities in larger North American cities. Despite experiences with our marines, Nicaragua, potentially the richest of Central American countries, shows a trend of thought and sympathy toward the United States. Coming at a time when Nicaragua is awakening to new aspirations, this trend is resulting in increased business for American manufacturers, though the bulk is not large.

FRIENDLY TO U. S.
It might be noted here that in all Central American countries visited by the Hoover party your correspondent talked with officials or leading citizens who confirmed reports of wide Latin-American resentment following our intervention in Nicaragua. The best they thought of our previous Nicaraguan and Mexican policy was that it was stupid; in Nicaragua, they held, both the correct and intelligent course was to recognize Somoza instead of Diaz. But during Hoover's visit anti-Americanism appeared everywhere to be at a low ebb. These peoples are confident of Hoover's good intentions — and immediately flattered by his visit.

Young men and women in the cities long ago began to pick up American and European styles. The girls who can afford them, however, say they can get their dresses much cheaper in Paris than from New York. The native ladies, of course, favor calico, with occasional prized "best" dresses of rayon or silk. The well-to-do men get their suits from England. British woolsens are much cheaper than any that can be had from the states.

Wines and liquors come from France and England. The natives make their own, but the product is shunned by the proprietary class.

LIKE SENTIMENTAL MOVIES
American movies compete successfully with the French, German and Italian films, but Italian pictures are favorites also because the producers favor so much sentiment into them. Opera is the other favorite amusement and Nicaraguans still retain the waltz and tango, despite acceptance of American jazz and dance steps. Radio sets have just begun to come in, most of them being in clubs. There is no large immediate field for their sale because of lack of broadcasting facilities and inability of the masses to buy the expensive sets now necessary.

But the market for American machinery is on the rise, especially agricultural machinery. Also for steel and cement for new two and three-story buildings. The cities, one is advised, are just beginning to adopt modern merchandising methods. But a few of the shop windows in one or two of the larger centers are demonstrative of the up-and-coming urge which seems to grip Nicaragua. Ample evidence of increased confidence in the nation's stability is given by the decline in interest rates. Once up to 16 and 18 per cent, they are now down as low as 10 per cent, or even less. The same increased stability of the country probably presages an increase in American investments, which are now found in Nicaragua's fruit industries, mining, railroad system and banking.

SOPHIE TUCKER HAS FAT CUT OFF—SAYS SHE'S WED

Chicago — (P) — Sophie Tucker stopped in Chicago "to have a little fat taken off my face" and incidentally to reveal that she had been married, for the third time, last Dec. 14, at Newport, Ky.

Reporters found her at the office of a plastic surgeon, strips of tape plastered in front of each ear.

"The operation? Just a little fat and loose skin off the face," she explained. "Only a small cut in front of each ear. Had to look a little younger for the films." Miss Tucker is 40 years old.

"Sure, I'm a bride," she confided. "His name? Oh, nobody in Chicago knows his name. He's A. Lackey, a small merchant in New York. Sells dresses; lives at the park central; 38 years old, and never before married."

"When were we married? Let me think. A guy ought to know his wedding date. Oh, yes, it was Dec. 14, at Newport, Ky. There was no honeymoon. I've had the flu ever since the wedding, but just had to start for Hollywood to fill my movie contract. He couldn't accompany me to California because this is his busy season."

ROUGH FISHERMEN GAVE STATE $45,622 IN '28

Madison — (P) — Exactly $45,622.81 accrued to the conservation fund from the operation of the rough fishermen of the state in the course of the last fiscal year under contract from the Wisconsin conservation commission, it has been announced. This money came from a total catch in all of Wisconsin's waters of 2,337,732 pounds of rough fish, and represents 25 per cent of the total income received from the sale of the fish as food in the eastern markets.

HOPE TO ESTABLISH UNIFORM BUS LICENSE

A conference with representatives of Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Combined Locks and Kimberly, will be called by Mayor A. C. Rule and A. C. Bosser, city attorney in an attempt to establish a uniform license fee for busses. The conference, probably will be held in Appleton.

Instructions to hold the conference were issued to the mayor and city attorney Wednesday evening by the common council following receipt of application for nine bus licenses from the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. Last year the council charged the company $50 for each bus. The licenses in neighboring cities varied.

One attempt was made last year by Fox River valley cities served by the power company to fix a uniform license, but no agreement could be reached. Last year Menasha charged $100 a bus. Last week the city council there boosted the license fee to $300 for each bus.

Motion to refer the matter to the mayor and city attorney was made by Alderman George Richard.

Law Shatters Big Dream

Attachment proceedings in the amount of $1000 ended the dream of a fine arts school in a French chateau that was planned by the Countess de Taurine, the former Mrs. J. M. Flanagan, wife of a Wichita, Kas., undertaker. A creditor's suit resulted in attachment of all the countess' belongings except the clothes she wore. The countess, a former singer in this country and abroad, was associated in promotion of a $23,000,000 fine arts school in a chateau deeded to her, along with the title, by a Frenchman she interested in her plan.

Oscar Beckman of St. Louis, Mo., is visiting friends and relatives in the city.

Robert Zilske, Jr., has returned to Madison where he is a student at the University of Wisconsin.
